

THE GRAMMARIANZ

2011

Halifax Grammar School

2010-2011

CONTENTS

Reflections on the Year 2

Student Leadership Team 5

Faculty 6

Class of 2011 Graduates 8

Student Profiles 25

The House System 68

Student Life 70

The Arts 74

Clubs 82

Community Service 88

Athletics 89

A Message from the Headmaster

As I reflect upon the school year past, I am pleased with and proud of the many ways Grammar students have once again distinguished themselves in the classrooms, in the sports arenas, and on the stage. Robert Byrne once said, "The purpose of life is a life of purpose", and the actions of our students certainly validate his words.

Students can and should be proud of their many academic successes this year. Students have worked hard and the rewards are self-evident. Nearly all of the members of our graduating class will be pursuing post-secondary studies at universities of their choice, and often on scholarship.

Our student athletes performed admirably in competition without ever losing sight of the greater purpose of sport, and by doing so, adhering to the highest standards of sportsmanship. Our music programs grew in number and our young musicians now constitute several different performing bands and ensembles, and next year will study and practice in our new performing arts studio.

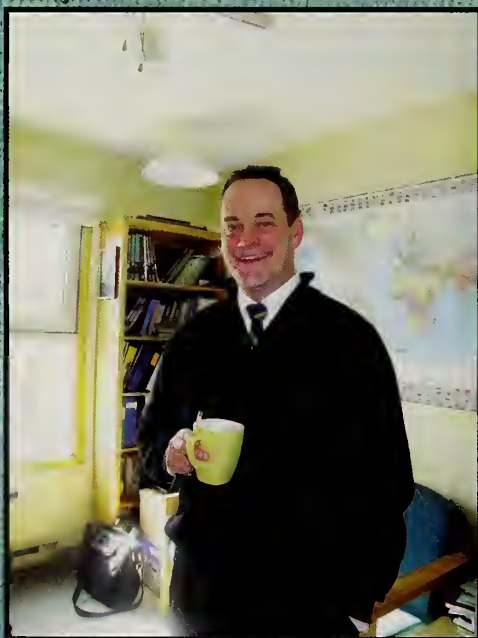

World events have shaped and revealed the character of each our students. The earthquake of Japan spawned a number of student led initiatives aimed at raising awareness and money for the victims of this tragedy, and several of our senior high students participated in a Habitat for Humanity trip to Guatemala, an experience which changed their lives forever.

Students, in years to come, take the opportunity to flip through the pages of this yearbook, remember your school experiences with fondness, and reconnect with classmates. At that time, I am hopeful that you will be able to say to yourself, "I am living a life of purpose".

Blayne Addley

A Message from the Head of the Senior School

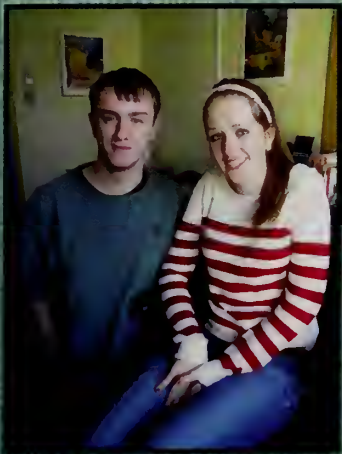

As I reflect upon this year, my deadline has long since expired. Abby, Hannah and Ms. McKegney have taken turns stalking and encouraging me to submit my final message to the graduating class of 2011. The year is fast coming to a close, with the IB exams just weeks away. All of the IB internal assessment are in, and the final hurdle for the class of 2011 is the gauntlet of IB exams. Once they are done, this class will no doubt reflect upon their many achievements over the years and particularly this year. For me, the highlights include the following:

Senator Roméo Dallaire speaking at the Global Awareness Conference followed by excellent questions from students like Oliver and Kelsey; Ms. Capalbo's first HGS Musical, Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory, where once again the audience was delighted by the many talents of our HGS students, particularly Kenzie and Jose; and our girls Senior Varsity team winning Metros with Katie's buzzer beater four point play, Tessa's All Star play and Hilary's exceptional defense. The Senior Three Keji Trip was once again a magical time, and, as always, an excellent telltale for how the school year will unfold. During our brief stay at Keji, I was delighted to see how well Pelham, our Head Boy, Kathleen, our Head Girl, and the rest of student council worked together. It was clear then that our student leadership was in capable hands. Good luck in the years ahead. Make the most of your natural talents and the skills that you have cultivated here at HGS. Stay in touch and keep well!

Matthew Moffatt

A Message from the Head Boy and Head Girl 2010-2011

As the year comes to a close and election season approaches, we must now, using cliché after cliché, reflect on the year. Both of us can look back to the week before school started when Student Council gathered at White Point to lay out the year ahead. We decided to give the year a theme, and because of the way we came together as a team and collaborated our ideas and opinions, UNITY was the obvious choice. This became our inspiration for the year's events, as we aimed to bring together Grammarians from the 3 schools in new ways.

On that note, we want to recognize that without the Student Council, from M1 up to S3, none of this would have been possible. The Head Girl and Head Boy may be the faces of student leadership, but in reality we are supported by a team of students who are just as enthusiastic and hard-working as we are. Your drive and ingenuity were incredible, motivating us through these past eight months. Because of you, we were able to improve student life with awesome events, such as crazy dances, quirky coffeehouses and activities like school-wide Musical Chairs and skating on the Oval during Winter Carnival.

We want to thank the amazing faculty and staff who went above and beyond their duties to make events as successful as possible. Specifically, Ms. Baillie, who generously opened up her office floor for our hectic Cabinet meetings and whose positive attitude encouraged us in (most) of our crazy ideas. Secondly, the man himself, Mr. Moffatt, who put tons of effort into our dances, even though he may have wanted to spend his Friday nights elsewhere ... but probably not. Also, Mr. Hare, for offering advice and support when needed, and Mrs. Woodford, whose commitment to the Middle School bridged the physical gap between the two schools.

Lastly, we could not possibly finish this off without saying a big thank you to the extraordinary student body. Your enthusiasm gave every event life, creating an astounding participation level. You guys are the reason why we took these jobs in the first place and why it was so worthwhile.

All in all, we can honestly and truly say we had a fantastic, memorable year. Not only were we able to learn a lot about the school and the kids that make it amazing, but we had a blast doing it. We realized that Unity does indeed improve the overall experience, but, most importantly, it is vital towards the success of a team like ours. The events that we held may well have unified the school, but it was the in-between moments, in the hallways, that really created the great vibe that Grammar is known for. Yes, the year held lots of excitement for us, but now, as we move on, we face a new kind of excitement, that of graduating and continuing with the next stage of our lives in university. At this time, we want to wish next year's Student Council, especially GT and Gillan, the best of luck. Our advice? Have fun and, to quote the ToK wall (and later, Gillian's speech), - "High school is like toilet paper. You don't miss it 'til it's gone." Pelham and Kathleen

A Message from the House Captain

Hiiiiii Everyone!

I've had a wonderful time this year being your House Captain and a member of the cult that is the Cabinet. It has been so enjoyable watching the whole school get together and compete in all the crazy activities that were put on this year, such as a wild Family Feud competition and Winter Surprise Day with the senior high. Seeing the incredible spirit from the Grammar community was so encouraging and really made all of the hard work put into everything very worthwhile. Highlights included volleyball and dodgeball tournaments, Goofy Games, musical chairs, Minute to Win It, Family Feud; and, of course, field day. All of the events and house competitions that I took part in organizing would have been impossible to execute without the aid and guidance of all of the teachers and student council members involved. I would like to thank these people in particular: the rest of the cabinet for all of their tireless efforts; the house stewards; Hil, Em, Albert, Alex, and Tim; and the rest of student council. There was also terrific support from the teachers, and I greatly appreciate all of their help: Mr. McGarrigle for helping me through every house event and always offering guidance, Ms. Baillie for all of her time with the cabinet and always being there to talk about any organizational issues, Mr. Moffatt for dealing with all of our annoying pressure when planning dances, Ms. Woodford and Ms. MacDonald for providing a connection to the middle and prep schools respectively, and to every teacher who helped chaperone or execute an event.

As I finish this note to all you Grammarians, it is with great reluctance coupled with a feeling of satisfaction that I have to leave my throne as House Captain and wish next year's HC the best of luck.

- Freya Kaiser-Derrick

P.S. I rigged all the challenges.

A Message from Your Yearbook Steward

This year began with the vision of capturing an entire school photo, which set the tone and established this year's theme of school-wide unity. Working on the yearbook this year has been an amazing, although hectic, experience. Our team included Hannah Price (Senior School Editor), Shahrzad Daliran (Middle School Editor), and Pardis Borgei (Prep School Editor). Of course, none of this would have been possible without our incredible yearbook advisor, Ms. McKegney, who guided us through this occasionally frustrating journey. She was always there for us when we needed her help, and worked incredibly hard until the job was done. For that, we'd like to say a huge thank you, as the yearbook could not have been completed without you. Looking back on this year, I am so grateful that in my last year-out of thirteen years -at Grammar that I had the pleasure of working on the yearbook. The process involved getting to know kids from Prep, Middle, and Senior Schools, and in that I believe this yearbook is truly representative of our school and the wonderful year we have had. Hope you guys enjoy the result and have an amazing summer!

-Abby Suissa Yearbook Steward (S3)

Messages to the Graduating Class

-Every great dream begins with a dreamer. Always remember, you have within you the strength, the patience, and the passion to reach for the stars to change the world. Harriet Tubman Congratulations Rylan and to the class of 2011. John and Sandra Greer

-“An inch of time is an inch of gold: Treasure it. Appreciate its fleeting nature; misplaced gold is easily found, misspent time is lost forever.”
Loy Ching-Yuen Jonathan Welch

-For Patricia, our very special daughter! Congratulations, your determination has brought you to the next chapter of your life. Many lessons have been learned; don't forget the lessons! The world is yours to discover! Thank-you to all your patient instructors! Julie and Don

-“Do not go where the path may lead; go instead where there is no path and leave a trail.” Ralph Waldo Emerson Congratulations to the Class of 2011. Blaze your own trails. Gordon and Kathleen Flowerdew

-“You have brains in your head. You have feet in your shoes. You can steer yourself in any direction you choose. You're on your own. And you know what you know and YOU are the guy who'll decide where to go.” Dr. Seuss Oh The Places You'll Go Kathleen Singleton and Steve Morris

-Congratulations and best wishes to all the young men and women of the 2011 graduating class. Annalee and Jerome Pauig.

-Congratulations to the Graduating Class of 2010-2011! All your hard work has finally paid off, and we wish you all the best with whatever you decide to do in your futures! The Suissa Family

-You've touched my heart through your kindnesses shared with Myles during his years here at HGS. A treasure of my life is to have been included in many of yours in some small way. I'm going to miss the Grammar community's regular transfusions of energy, enthusiasm and excellent sense of how to have a good time! Wishing you happiness. “T.A.” MacNaughton

-“For what purpose should one cultivate wisdom? May you always ask yourself this question.” - Daisaku Ikeda Norma Welch

-Meaghan, You've always been a very independent thinker, determined, leader and self starter. You never cease to amaze and surprise us. We can't wait to see what you've got in store for the future!” We are extremely proud of you! Lots of love, Janice and Dad

-Sweet Emma, Daddy and I dreamed of such a momentous occasion since we cradled you 17 years ago. It brought such joy to Dad to speak of your promising future even knowing that he may not be here to see you graduate. I am so incredibly proud of you Emma and know that you are fulfilling our dreams and yours as you courageously soar into the next exciting chapter of life. With all my love, Mom

HGS Student Council 2010-2011

Class Representatives:

Grade 10 (S1):	Annika Gnann, Ellen Snook
Grade 11 (S2):	Debi Ogunrinde, Jeric Pauig, Thomas Gwynne-Timothy
Grade 12 (S3):	Kiefer Burgess, Roman Burgess

Cabinet:

Head Boy:	Pelham Flowerdew
Head Girl:	Kathleen Delicaet
Treasurer:	Jose Pauig
Secretary:	Allan MacDonald
House Captain:	Freya Kaiser-Derrick

House System:

Prep School House Coordinator:	Tim Crowell
Acadia House Steward:	Emily McBride
Glooscap House Steward:	Alex Morris
Privateers House Steward:	Hilary Grantmyre
Royals House Steward:	Albert Casha

Activity Stewards:

Arts:	Becky Hage
Community Service:	Philip Gores
Environment:	Gillian Fong-McMaster Valeriya Sokolenko
Global Affairs:	Beth MacDonald
Newspaper:	Grace Koh
Sports:	Meaghan McTiernan Tom Edgerton
Yearbook:	Abby Suissa
Editors:	Shahrazad Daliran Hannah Price Pardis Borghei

White Point 2010

On August 23th and 24th, this year's Student Council carried on with tradition and ventured to White Point Resort for Leadership Retreat 2010. As always, planning sessions were held to organize the year. The leadership team participated in a case study that challenged their decision-making process, and a volleyball game against the teachers that re-ignited the age-old battle of youth versus experience! They got to know each other better and worked together to establish a theme for the year's student-run events: Unity. Thank you to all the teachers, especially Ms. Baillie, who organized the retreat. Thanks to all the students who worked together to push the boundaries and dedicate themselves to a terrific year!

-Pelham Flowerdew, Head Boy 2010-2011

A Special Thank You to the Parents' Activities Committee

The Parents' Activities Committee's main objective is to create and promote HGS community spirit. Throughout the year, we have many events that bring the families of HGS together. The year begins with the Parent's Reception, and then is followed by the Ice Cream Social, the Book Fair, the Wreath Sales, the Holiday Munch, the Staff Appreciation Luncheon and the Field Day school barbecue. Each event is only successful due to the support of the HGS community. Thanks for another great year!

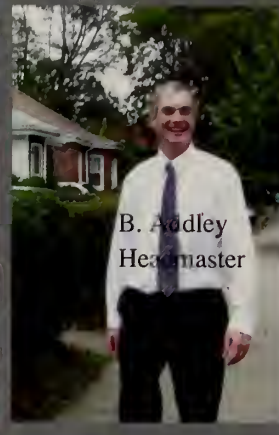

K. Curran

J. Messenger

R. Gallupe

B. Addley
Headmaster

E. Gray
Head of rep School

L. Reynolds

B. MacKinnon

M. Butt K. DeGrasse

T. Capalbo

S. Baigent

G. Baillie

A. Hare

P. Sweet
Smith

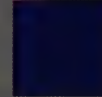

J. Friesen

A. Simms

T. Fitz

A. McKegney

E. Abraham

J. Peach

L. Jollimore-Behie

J.P. Ellis

J.A. Bennett

K. Hardman

J. Kinnie

A. Tolbart

J. Danford

D. Wiggin

J. Kiley

E. MacDonald

C. MacDonald

D. MacInnis

K. Silver

A.M. MacNeil

Faculty and Staff

P. Beazley O. Montalvo-March

L. Brock
T. McGarrigle
M. Moffatt
Head of Senior School

K. Gallivan

K. O'Carroll

D. Goodfellow

T. Woodford

A.M. Kent

K. O'Connor G. Silverman

J. Thompson

A. Hawker

D. Hatfield

H. Nowe

R. Forrestall

S. Laffoley
Head of Middle School

M. Turner

M. Chandler

B. Suitor

J. Robbins

H. Adams

M. Benson

J. Trout-Zisserson

A. Furey

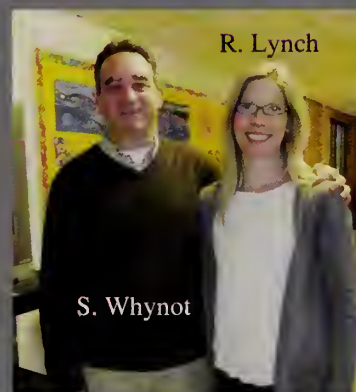

C. Follini

S. Couillard

C. Walsh

R. Lynch

S. Whynot

Chisholm

S. Stacey

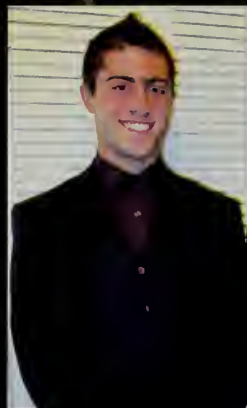

CLASS OF 2011

International . . .
GRAMMAR SCHOOL

PARDIS BORGHEI

Something that most people don't know about Pardis is that she has an excellent sense of humour. She can take a joke and dish it back just as well as anyone else. She came in grade 10 (when no one knew how to say her name and/or thought it was Paradox) and immediately enthralled us with her gigantic produce. I kid you not; every day for lunch she would bring something else new. There were golfball sized grapes and olives and strawberries the size of your fist. She also lived in the ideal location for hanging out, right off of Spring Garden (by the way, I STILL owe you a movie, I haven't forgotten). So that made for many excellent movie trips and adventures to the Buskers. However, a tragic event occurred when, fresh off a plane from Iran, she came to my birthday party and was jumping on the trampoline. Suddenly, Pardis had broken her leg, and I felt so bad. It required surgery and she couldn't walk for months, which made our venture to a metal concert in October very interesting indeed. Pardis is always there to listen to you and she is one of the greatest friends to have. I'm going to miss her a ton and I hope she manages to achieve her dreams (and get a cell phone!) - Siobhan

KIEFER BURGESS

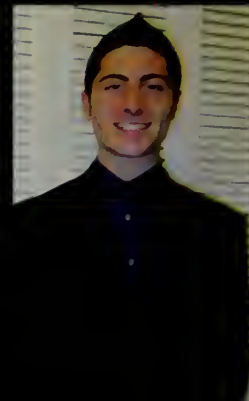

Kiefer's not your average Roman, in fact he's quite "different". What d'ya know, I guess one minute really can make a difference. Kiefer is a real Dr. Jekyll/Mr. Hyde kind of guy. While on his short, hairy exterior he may appear to be a real scholar, when you get him away from his studies (which is surprisingly easy) the real Kief shows up. His jovial antics mixed with his outright refusal to conform with society's idea of sanity, makes him a real trendsetter, even though the trends don't always catch on. He's the "K" in RKM, the chaos in our harmony, the paste-eating kid in our kindergarten class (not actually, but you get the idea). All in all, he's the true definition of one thing, and one thing only: Kiefer.

- Matt and Roman

ROMAN BURGESS

First of all, what a guy! A real over-achiever, the All-Bran to everyone's Fibre-1. Due to his plethora of brain power, he's a great help with just about everything; seriously, without him, we wouldn't have even gotten this done! What a lot of people may not know is that he's "proficient with a dual blade." From intentionally awkward pauses to referencing obscure vegetables, you never know what he's gonna come up with next to make someone laugh. Despite his human-like appearance, he is merely the wrapping paper on your Christmas drum set; when you rip off all the paper, you find a beat-machine. If it's not clear, we mean he likes beat-boxing (insert sudden understanding here). This kid's gonna go far, really far...but not far enough for us not to mooch off our share of his spoils! :D

- Matt and Kief

ALBERT CASHA

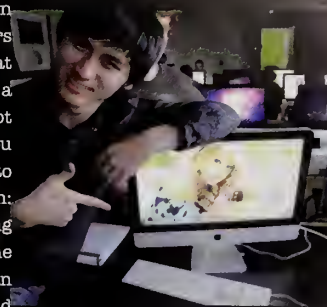

Albert,

You hopped on the late 'atrain' for Grammar school and jumped right into IB and grade 11. Of course, you were certain you understood how Grammar and IB worked better than the rest of us. On your first day, Meaghan tried to befriend you. Sadly, you were too preoccupied with the contents of your locker to come up with any answers longer than 1 word. Emily also tried to entice you with conversation, and again you failed, saying you'd only managed to shave half of your face that morning. After you became social, and stopped talking about the fake world, your relationship with Kathleen grew and provoked moments like "Blink 82" and driving in the Mazda. Thus, you became a true Grammarian. This conversion is also supported by some more fundamental sacrifices such as the loss of your sk8er boi shag, your eccentric/colourful clothing (much to Meaghan's dismay), your early bed time and your general outlook on emotions. Also with Grammarian citizenship, you've experienced new things like Shakespeare and basketball. You've also managed to continue the past, forwarding your acting career from times with the dudes to your debut solo in the musical. Your infamy, along with Meaghan's, increased earlier this year as you earned the title "Bedford Sloppies". Albert and Meaghan continued to hone this skill as they drank coke and watched American Pie in the basement. Like a sinusoidal function, there have been some bumps throughout your metamorphosis... Primarily the 99 problems that we found with Matt. The local maximums of this function we call our friendship include your generosity and caring nature, Andrew, and the game of "I didn't know..." including the prime example of Tampa. All in all, you're an amazing friend and a young professional who must be a gentleman and a scholar. We're sure your HL math skills will carry you through university and make sure you do the right thing ... Although you need a new "good citizen" sweater. - <3 KD, MM, EM

RAVEE CHEN

Mingming, where to start? I guess my earliest memory with you is having a locker next to yours when you came to Grammar in grade 8. I guess I didn't really roll out the welcome wagon, considering I lost the marker to your magnetic white-board then proceeded to call you "Gravy" for the next few weeks, not knowing what your name actually was. Little did I know that four years later, we'd be taking on the world together, trying to figure out what is and isn't true. Really. I could not have imagined that ridiculously nerdy, poorly-dressed Asian boy with possibly the saddest haircut I have ever seen would morph into a mathematically-minded, water-polo-playing beast with a penchant for pink and feminine hair products. I have no idea how you got so good at life (not the important parts, unfortunately, like school, but everything else) in between grades 10 and 12. It's like you matured exponentially, but I guess that is a function of reading too much Manga. I always forget you're barely old enough to operate a vehicle because some of the things you say are so suspiciously wise. It's bittersweet to think of all we've been through: TTB, forcing 250 mL of 1% milk in my face, your aversion towards my music, Absolute Boyfriend, forcing 500 mL of sparkling water in my face, , your inability to call my bluffs, Starbucks runs, paperbags, not to mention the billion things you've gotten me addicted to... Kongregate, OMGPOP, Vampire Knight, Kyou, Big Bang Theory... There's a ton of other things I'm sure you can remember but I can't because, as you've pointed out many times, my memory is horrible. You are impossibly the greatest friend anyone could ask for, and I don't know how you've put up with my frivolities for so long. Thanks for everything, the walks, the 8 hour conversations, fool-proof plans :P, and taking heat for me. Viel Glück with the rest of your life, wherever it takes you. I hope you find a nice ten roommate you can cook and clean for. Long live all the walls we crashed through, Mingming, I had the time of my life fighting dragons with you . =^_^=

BARSHA CHOWDHURY

You came to HGS in grade 11; my attempts to talk to you in the hallway actually made us good friends through all of grades 11 and 12. My first impressions about you were that you were quiet and shy, like typical new students, but I knew when you took off that curtain, there was a truly amazing personality behind it. Luckily, I was in all of the classes that you were in, except chemistry, so I got to know you much better. You absolutely surprised everyone in our grade with how smart you were, and more importantly how hardworking you are in any task. The Spanish presentation that you showed us, speaking so fluently in just 3 months...I thought that was impossible. But you did it, and that absolutely stunned our entire class. You are also very helpful; for example, you always helped anyone in the class who asked questions and never refused to help anyone who needed it. For instance, I asked you how a nephron works because I didn't fully understand. Remember during lunch time, you explained how it works in detail and it was really easy to understand your explanation about its function. It was definitely intense teaching me biology for 30 minutes. I was very impressed at how you could explain it so well in such a short time. You did not complain about the fact that you spent the time explaining more school work that we were already tired of to me. I was very thankful for that. Not only smart and helpful, you have a good sense of humour. Even in just random boring conversations, some words that you emphasize or your funny ideas that you throw in are absolutely hilarious. There are millions of smart people in the world, but there are not many of people who are kind like you, hardworking like you, and are able to teach things so easily, or give up time to make others understand the questions that they have. Those are really rare qualities, and definitely, it is something that you should be proud of. Barsh, you are a fantastic friend. ^^

P.S. I like to call you Barsh instead of Barsha because I feel I'm a more unique friend to you than other people in this way.

ALEXANDRIA CHUN

I don't remember when you started Grammar, probably because I wasn't at Grammar yet, but what I do remember is when I first became your friend. Who would have guessed splashing a milk carton in your face would turn out to be a good thing? From that moment on, I can't really remember any alone time, though that may not be a bad thing. Our memories stretch from reading Chibi Vampire together in the Middle School like the cool cats we were to being mistaken as siblings on our flight to Germany. I was the older brother of course. In our final year of high school together, such fond memories of you scoring 1.5 points higher on everything or besting me at simple math hopefully will not be remembered. Though there was never a shortage of time we spent together, every free in our final year felt too short, even the ones that stretched from Recess to 4:00pm. I will admit that writing this saddens me since it feels like a premature farewell, but it is a small price to pay for all the happy memories. Your intelligence and beauty have kept me company and on my toes for much of the past 4 years, and I am not just complimenting you because this is your grad write up. You really are a spectacular person, so do not ever think otherwise. You better come visit me during Christmas. -Ravee

SAMUEL COLLINS

By use of extensive research done by the author, it can be deduced that Mr. Sam Collins began his Grammar school life in grade 3. Despite some crippling decisions in grade 10, notably sitting next to Adrian Laing in bio class, he grew into a strong and level headed individual, proving his skill in many academic subjects, including a few less academically inclined ones. He has established a strong work ethic through his endless drive for success, as well as making it very clear that if you offer him any Kim-chi (bowl noodles), it will inevitably end up overturned on the ground. Sam Collins comes from a strong family in possession of undying love for each other, passion for travel and potentially the largest rear projection TV one will ever see in one's life. He is a hardworking student who has demonstrated, time and again, his love for learning and debating. Having conquered the Halifax Grammar School, there is no doubt that Mr. Sam (too many ninjas) Collins will go on to achieve great things.

~Researched by your pal, Adrian

TIMOTHY CROWELL

First and foremost, Tim is a gentleman and a scholar. His ability to attract gorgeous (younger) women is only rivaled by the great John Stamos. Through the past three years at Grammar, we've been fortunate enough to witness Tim's many transformations. For example, the beginning of his Grammar career was marked by an interaction with dance security, running zigzags hoping to evade them; he now calmly walks by with a smile. The three of us have shared some excellent times; from riverboat gambling trips and making our own beef jerky to hanging out with Johnny Hopkins and Sloane Kettering. A fan of North American creations including Big Macs and role models both of the MJ's, Tim is truly European at heart. Aside from being the pinnacle of social perfection (before 10:30) he also super chills / mega chills on da court. His average of 20 pts a game and ability to jump like a mystic steed are just a few of his athletic talents. He is never scared to casually grope an unprepared friend, or to scream like a child when confronted with a flock of crows. Shark week and Prestige worldwide will never be the same without you. -AM&TE.

Besides being absolutely reckless and hilarious, Tim is an amazing friend and will always have your back. If you ever get the chance to get to know this young freckled lad, consider yourself lucky. He truly is something else. Wishing you the best of luck next year Timmy, even though with your charisma and everything else you have going for you, you won't need it. -FKD

SHAHRZAD DALIRAN

The first most important thing to note about Sharzy is her enthusiasm. Where does she get all that from? Always eager to make new events, she successfully managed to hold a car wash fundraiser and a multicultural gala dinner for our school this year. Whenever she comes up with ideas, she makes sure to make them happen. She is very hard working. She even organized a huge birthday party for her friends, including the whole grade! It was a memorable night with delicious Persian food and dancing to Persian remixes. It was possibly her last bday party in Halifax. She's a phenomenal dancer too! Shahrzad is a very nice person. She's always there when you need to feel better. She uses very inspirational language and makes you feel better when you're down; she makes you believe in yourself. She is confident and very optimistic. Phew! How many qualities have I mentioned?! Good luck wherever you go, Sharzy! I'll miss you! Love, Barsha

KATHLEEN DELICAET

After spending the majority of her junior high years sitting in the back of the class reading Dan Brown, Kathleen left the rough side of Inglis, venturing over to HGS to join her fellow South-End Soldiers. Through brief love affairs with the Burgess brothers and the Jonas brothers, Kathleen settled in right at home. Upon entering high school, Miss Delicaet found herself thrust into the Grade 12 locker area, providing her with a crop of suitors. Kathleen's house instantly became everyone's second home with her ever inclusive attitude. Even though we tease her for always strutting down our hall, and trying to look busy, she really is doing all the work she can find. She is extremely dedicated to all of her pursuits; she's an exemplary head girl, a motivational varsity ball captain and a passionate scholar. Although not a cuddler, she's a very loving person, and this lovingness once translated into a borderline obsession with a certain ginger meathead. Kathleen is an amazing listener and has been there through all of our sorrows, never hesitating to let us talk her ear off. After a little encouragement to "go hard or go home", she's a terrific rapper and a great etch-a-sketch artist. Her other hobbies include night ridin, tandem cycling, Gena dates, watching Friends and being over caffeinated. We are so lucky to have shared our high school years with this amazing girl and couldn't imagine having a more incredible best friend. We know you're going to be doing "big tings" in the future and you've sure left your mark on Grammar and everyone who's been fortunate enough to know you. All our love - EM AS FKD

KENZIE DELO

How can you pick Kenzie out in a crowd? Just look for those curly fiery locks he keeps on his head! Kenzie came to the Grammar School in grade five, but we really didn't start to hang out until grade six. I remember spending copious amounts of hours in your basement playing video games and discussing our differences in musical tastes. I remember spending many hours swimming in your pool in your backyard, and drawing frogman comics in our spare time. Those were the days dear friend. Kenzie was one of my best friends growing up; we shared a lot of interests. He always knows how to make somebody laugh. He is a cool kid to hang out with (except that his hair seems to be on fire!). When we grew up a bit, Kenzie found a calling in the performing arts and has since acted, sang, and danced in six productions at the Grammar School alone, and performed in many shows outside of the school as well. Kenzie and I usually saw things eye to eye; remember when we both refused to use stopping power? Kenzie came to school every day with a contagious smile on his face that easily spread to yours whether it was from a witty joke or a funny video he watched the night before. These contagious smiles were always welcome to me, sparking a little fire in the darkness of our academic careers. Kenzie, wherever you end up after high school, take some time to think about the times we've had in our circle of friends. If you ever want to go out for coffee, you know who you can call.

-Robert Mayhew

TOM EDGERTON

When we first met Tom, we were quite scared he was going to give us a "Good Ole Fashioned English Arse Kickin!" Since then, we have learned a lot about Tom. Tom loves a thick, dark Guinness. He is an intrepid stealth cougar, great boyscout, and master of small talk; Tom's love for idle conversation is only surpassed by his love of beautiful blonde women in bikinis. Besides wooing a beautiful wife that can cook a marvelous chutney, he will undoubtedly translate every colourful commentary from west ham united "football" games in beautiful English prose, learned at the tender age of 12. He truly is a renaissance man - belonging in social endeavours, musical functions (Tom is an avid guitar player), and urban cigar clubs equipped with hefty salad bars. Although dangerously polite, Tom does not hesitate to drop the f-bomb in times of great intellectual stress/hardship. Although polite, Tom is very straightforward. This quality of Tom's is echoed through the relationships he has with his teachers. If he doesn't make them mad by rudeness, he can always steal a hat to piss someone off. Finally, Tom is the epitome of an English gentleman. A man who puts friends and family before himself, he is not afraid to spend a quick buck on a friend. - AM & TC

When I first met Tom, I was wowed by his charm, and this shining quality of his has not diminished in my eyes in the slightest. He is exceptionally friendly, terribly kind (unless provoked otherwise by a jab at his orange sweater), and naturally brilliant. He has the ability to make you smile even in the worst of moods. It is for this, and everything else he does for his friends, that we thank and love him. Breaking hearts everywhere, from TED conferences on, Tom truly is a keeper. We all love you Tom, and as said most eloquently in your lovely accent, "You're perfect." - Your twin, F.

PELHAM FLOWERDEW

A true Grammarian. Pelham's loyalty to the Grammar School is as clear as his naked nipple (think toga) at Wednesday's assembly period. Enthusiastic, optimistic, and determined, his un-paralleled Grammar School spirit is shown in his commitment as the Head-boy of the year 2010-2011. And he was a dang good one at that. His passions include solving impossible math problems, writing about himself, and belittling the rest of his mortal peers at the Grammar School. His additional undying love for basketball also ensures that he never fails to take-off his shirt and reveal his god-like, golden, chest hair for a good-ol' game of four-on-four. The number of times I have been stuffed by his herculean arms is truly unforgivable ... But of course, of all of his divine traits, there is one that simply cannot be forgotten: prodigious intelligence. The number of calls he receives over a single week for homework related questions is greater than Roman and Kiefer Burgess' predicted grades ... combined. So much so, that Pelham must take one of those many lavish vacations to escape his earthly class-mates. Best of luck to you bro; though I really ... really ... doubt you'll need it. - MM

So thinking back, I realize that Pelham is one of the people I have known the longest throughout my life. I remember him slamming his finger in the door at the Sportsplex in Prep 2, his "Beatles" hair in Middle 2 (I still have a picture, ahaha), and his massive hiking bag, 'cause "it's the only thing that'll hold all his stuff". Pelham is always there to help me with a chemistry problem, to hang out at the school, like, 4 hours after it ended and to listen to my absolutely ridiculous tales of woe. PS- One word: Bugdom. Good times, eh Pelham? - SW

PHILIP GORES

Go Yang Ban, you should know our friendship is special and unique. It all started in the back corner of Ms. Baillie's room; you sat next to me in math class and we suddenly became friends. Yes, suddenly. It is amazing how we could become friends so quickly and so easily: that's probably because we have a lot in common. We usually agreed to most of the things that we talked about. You always had mature and thoughtful opinions that surprised me. You were also very helpful; whenever I had problems with school, family and friends, you were there to listen carefully to my problems, even complaints, and give your thoughtful advice that might help reduce my stress. My problems were probably boring compared to yours; for example, you texted me while you were in Montréal if a "city is alive." Later that night we were both still trying to figure out if it was alive or not. If other people saw we were discussing such an "out of your mind" question for hours ... well, we always had fun talking about that kind of question. Clearly, there was no topic that we couldn't talk about. When we didn't have things to talk about, we taught each other new languages. You are the first person who learned Korean from me, and I was always amazed how quickly you picked it up. The name I gave you in Korean, meaning loyal, suits your personality very well. Anyway, I think we had good and bad moments, but you always tried to change those bad moments to funny and happy ones. Yes, I know you are intelligent, kind, nice, polite, and there are so many other good qualities that you have, but the best quality that I think you have is that you know exactly when to give up your time and energy for your friend to make your friend's life happier. I believe in you, LS, that you will have an awesome life. Good luck. ^ ^ - Grace

HILARY GRANTMYRE

Hilary has always been a wild one - by day and by night. She has kept our grade alive and brought us all together for 'stress-relief' when we needed it the most. She is always there when you need her ... that is if you can find her, as her phone never works. Luckily, we know that we can find Hilary on the court/turf/field/ocean. Name a sport, and Hilary has played it. From being captain on the court to being captain of the boathouse, she takes charge of every situation ... that is if she's awake. Hilary is also an artsy kid; she has it all. From her incredible voice (yes, you do have one) to her hobo acting in Urinetown, she's a performer at heart. Let's talk about her style. Hilary loves eccentric, yet chic things: bangles, ruffles, sequins, lace, etc., but somehow she pulls it off and always looks cute (ex. New Years dress 2010). Every year you say you're going to leave Grammar, yet here we are in Grade 12. We know that you haven't loved every minute of your Grammar experience...homework..., but you still keep a smile on that pretty face. ;) Hecco. Oh burn! We love you so much, and we know you'll be as awesome in university as you are at Grammar. xoxo Bethhykins and Hama

When did Hilary first enter my life? Probably as I was being born. I think I spent all of my childhood either having sleepovers at her house, or playing with her and the gang in the 'pit'. Even though we've gone through some ugly middle school times together (most notably her metallic vest collection and my sketchers), we still managed to find some boys, who we then decided to share (like everything else we've ever owned). The theme of sharing continued through high school, as we've shared good times, bad times, and many trips to McDonald's and Walmart (usually to visit your friends, aka the employees). It is important to note how generous Hilary really is. Not only does she try her best to make sure things always run smoothly and everyone has fun, but she is always ready to lend clothing, weird jewelry, advice, and her time. Hilary, you've been my best friend since day 1. I can't believe we've finally made it, and I'm so ready to run off with you.

Much love, scoob/EM

RYLAN GREER

How does one adequately express the outrageous spontaneity, joyful creepiness, and dependent easy-going attitude that is Rylan Mark Forbes "The Yellow Dart" Greer? Perhaps it can only be accomplished by utilizing the words of the immortal bard himself, but I know I'm not supposed to use Shrek jokes, so I won't. I first experienced Rylan in the summer of 2005 at Big Cove, where Rylan was reading the Darwin Awards, spouting trivia, and thinking about how funny words sounded when you said them again and again. He arrived at Grammar in Grade 8, and I believe the best way to condense our relationship in Middle School is by recalling something he yelled at me rather forcefully. "When you are here, I want to punch myself in the stomach 40 times!", he said. My life was never the same again. Ever since, I have enjoyed such Rylanisms as kicking his own head, "GLEEEAAUUGHN!", and "Eat your pizza three times, Strike Three, you're out!". But on a more serious note, if it can get more serious than a shark punching a helicopter, Rylan has always been someone I can go to if I just want to have fun, relax, and get a guaranteed laugh, someone I can go to if I'd rather be locating pizza than doing homework. You're much more than a love of cars, puns, and hanging with the guys. You're so ridiculous it hurts, and you're as ingenious a person as I'll ever meet. Rylan, I think you know how to get the most fun out of the world, and that'll be the don-key to success. When we meet again after Grammar, let's try to make it down to Pizza Twice. - PF

REBECCA HAGE

Becky, you were the first one to go to Uncommon Grounds with me last year! Haha so we obviously share lots of interests and things like our love for basketball ;) haha # 10 !! and our great artistic ability which is obvious in the coffee house posters ... and our curly hair! I'm pretty sure you're going to dominate the JV team this year, and if you need some help, I can add a few points to your stats when I'm scorekeeping your games ;) hahah jk So we might even end up going to Dal together?? That would be fun! But we have to go see some of the Dal basketball games too! Anyway, you're a great friend!! xoxo Tessa and are we ever going to see hp7??? :)

Becky showed up at Grammar on her first day with her quilt below her knees, a typical church girl. Her first encounter with me was her being dragged into the bathroom to shorten her quilt. From then on she changed into the perfect Grammar student: working hard on her studies but balancing it with her crazy leb social life and trying new things like the JV basketball team, the soccer team (who knew you played soccer?) and a starring role in Willy Wonka as the chorus. She will continue to show her true Grammar pride by staying east and representing us here at DAL, potentially with me!! Xoxo HP

YASSER HASSAN

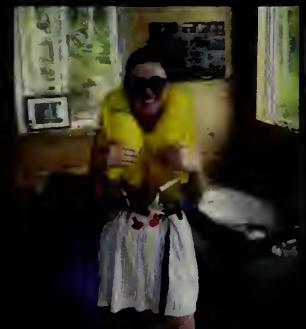

Yasser, yazzy, yazmataz, my simple Arab man... or "ya man." With you around for the past three years, my life has come to life. I've practically become your brother here and across the world. We've done everything from preparing meals, and cleaning up, to having an outstanding experience in Syria ... even if I was almost sold. The moment I will never forget about you (which happened on one of your rare appearances at school) is the time in English class when Dr. Friesen asked for your phone. You reached into the same pocket twice, once with one hand and then with the other. Those ten minutes of arguing over your phone have definitely been the best ten minutes this school has ever seen. Of course this moment had something to do with your phone, as everything bad that has ever happened is in some way related to it. But all jokes aside, we've gone through some of the most stressful times of our lives together; however, we have also experienced some of the greatest times I think I will have throughout my entire life. The generosity you bestow upon your friends and me definitely does not go unnoticed, and I would just like to thank you. Shoecran, from all of us, and thank you, shoecran, for being you. You're a friend, brother, and the best. -MM

This simple Arab man is the most comical person to step into our lives, not merely because of what he says, but because of all the hilarious situations he gets himself into (electrician hair cut?). No matter how much of a hard time you may get from time to time, you take everything in stride and have a resilience none can rival. You never hesitate to stand up for your loved ones, and you truly are a big brother to me. -FKD

PATRICIA JOHNSON-CASTLE

Although we have no classes together, Patricia and I have managed to become good friends through debating. The first time we ever really spoke was during a debating match, in which we argued whether or not prostitution should be legalized. Although a suitably awkward topic, Patricia was able to keep the awkwardness at bay using her trademark openness and intelligence, not to mention her debate skill. Although she keeps it professional at debate, her true newfie is shown in the hallways when she karate kicks me in the ribs to simply "keep me in line." Also, patricia will not hesitate to eat ANYTHING, whether it be a tasty Newfoundland caribou, to my leftover 2-day old chicken wings; this statement is especially true when that food item is covered in Peanut Butter, her fav. I have known Patricia for only four months, which is enough to show me how good of a friend and hilarious she really is; I hope we don't lose touch over the years, Patricia, because if we do, I'll not only lose a very good friend, but I'll also need to buy a dog to feed all my leftovers to :(Stay golden caribou girl. Lova, Allan :)

FREYA KAISER-DERRICK

Upon her arrival in grade ten, with her "disarming" smile and contagious laugh, FKD enchanted many Grammar classics, including the divine grade 12's and the infamous Dr. Bennett. She instantly took the stray dogs, Emily, Abby, and Kathleen under her motherly wings. She follows in the footsteps of idols such as Lil Wayne and the other members of Young Money. She has never been afraid to give the advice of "Go Hard, or Go Home," and practices what she preaches. Freya's loyalty has always been a defining characteristic in her friendships. Her opinions are always right, even though we sometimes hate to admit it. You can always count on her for a tag-team attack for anyone who has wronged her friends. Just as she was welcomed to the school, in grade twelve Freya was not afraid to welcome the fresh new faces of the grade ten...boys. She is an enthusiastic and spirited leader at Grammar, going above and beyond her duties as a Cabinet Member. When she's not zoning out in class, Freya can always be spotted at Grammar sports games and school events; her love for this school has no limits. Our high school experience would not have been the same without you; you are truly the best friend any of us could have ever asked for. Just remember Freya, "If you don't have peace of mind, you don't have nothing...nothing." Love always and forever, Abby, Kathleen, and Emily

It is only behind the closed doors of the math studies fraternity that Freya's true humour and leadership becomes all too apparent. She has certainly earned her title as the First Lady of Math Studies. After spending every class and free, every hour of every day for three whole years together, we can safely say we have never met someone more sincere, kind and yes we suppose a complete sweetheart. Her compassion and her kindness is loved and, although we don't always show it, is greatly appreciated. Having her as a friend saves money on therapy; she'll always lend an ear and will ultimately have your back. Best of luck for whatever uni throws at you and thanks for putting up with us. - Tim and Tom

GRACE KOH

When I first met Grace, it was back in grade ten and we were both new to the school. My first impression of her was that she was a little shy, very intelligent, and incredibly motivated. We sat together in the back of Mrs. Baillie's math class, and got to know each other by having conversations on our calculators. Although my first impression of her proved totally correct, I was lucky enough to find someone warmer, more caring, and more considerate than anyone else I met at that time, or have gotten to know since. What really made her special was an inner strength and courage of convictions like no other, as well as the ability to start conversations that seemed like they could go on forever. She quickly became my best friend, and she has been ever since. I can't help but smile when I remember the several hour study sessions we had, locked in a corner of the Killam, to prepare for exams. Our friendship continued through grade eleven, where I probably wouldn't have actually finished the year without Grace there, reminding me about deadlines and tests. However, I continued to learn more about her as that year passed as well. It was in grade eleven that I first heard her play the piano. Although she insisted, with her usual modesty, that it really wasn't a big deal, she was absolutely amazing. What made it even more impressive was that she is entirely self taught. It was in grade eleven that she began to teach me to speak Korean. She has been an excellent teacher, able to both make the lessons interesting, and to help me learn it fairly quickly, I would say. Through the years that I have known Grace, she has always been the same kind, thoughtful, strong, funny, smart, and talented person she has always been, but she's still full of surprises. She is in almost every happy memory that I have of high school, and I cannot imagine the last few years without her. Grace is a one of a kind, once in a lifetime friend, the kind who can make you smile when you're panicking. I know that no matter where I am and what is happening, if Grace is there too, everything will turn out all right. - Phil

GLEN KOSHI

So, Glen, you may not forgive me for wasting time on this write up and not working on my build order, but the Internet is down and my TOK essay is due in a couple of minutes, so this was my only means of procrastination. You came in grade 10 when I immediately started beating you at this game called "Blockles". Although my superiority in Blockles was our only connection, that soon changed in grade 12. That Keji trip was just me and my one-man tent and you with your monotone voice versus the deadly forces of nature: chilly climate, stars, and an imbalance of trees. Fortunately, SC2 came out not too long after that, so we were able to overcome the health benefits nature had on us. I have no idea what my high school experience would be like without you. I have no idea what it means to pay attention in class or to have a social life. All I know is at times when we felt like we were upgraded marauders going up against the stalker army of IB when it suddenly became marines against banelings respectively (it is because IB got the added bio trait). Hopefully university won't feel like roaches versus banshees, but I'm sure whatever CC online will throw at us, it can be categorized as tier one. I would end this write up with something sappy, but you know we are going to meet up on Battle Net every exam week and with the new interactive voice system, need for social contact will be negligible. Good luck in life SubtleArt! - "the NewHuk" Ravee

ADRIAN LAING

During Adrian's first day here, he seemed somewhat out-of-place and a little awkward, but boy did that ever change. Adrian managed, in his first week, to fit in as if we'd known him for years. I soon found out that he was seated next to me in Bio, which was the most hilarious and enjoyable class I've had. Whether we are "pirating" an unattended computer, attending a "cube party", or simply "derping" around, Adrian and I continue to be just as ridiculously silly whenever we are with each other. Adrian, you are not only a great friend, but a comedian, an artist, a composer, and an expert violinist. Somehow, you still manage to have time to edit the video of anyone who asks, to make your own machinima, and still hang out. You are one of the most genuine, helpful, and personable people I have ever met. What's most striking about Adrian, though? Probably the fact that, no matter who you ask, no one will tell you that they don't like him. Adrian, I am truly glad to have met you; you helped make my high school experience so great! I couldn't put any context to these: "Burger King: Taste the King", "I am the saddest guy", "I really like it when the lava just flows sideways and kills me". Best of luck in university; I know that you'll do great! -Sam

So my earliest memory of Adrian is on the trip to Ross Creek. I remember him sitting across from me and immediately settling into our pour-water-everywhere party. I also remember my friend and feeling ridiculously awkward as we pondered how he seemed really "religious" or something like that. Then I remember our afternoon walk through the Public Gardens and the cemetery with my camera. I'll keep it short by saying it results in video footage of the ginga ninja getting attacked by pigeons, feeding ducks, advertising soy nuts and chasing leaves. Oh, and the chestnut battle. I also suffered at the expense of several jokes regarding my Halo skills among Adrian and his friends. I never got any better. He never needed to. Laing, you are one of the most talented people I've ever met, and always remember: whenever you're doing bio, you're supposed to be doing history! I'll miss you. -Siobhan.

ALLAN MACDONALD

Allan and I had a bit of a rough start. It all started when our parents immediately hit it off at a dentistry conference. We both threw hissy fits at their wedding. We SERIOUSLY did not want to get to know each other, especially after he touched my drum-set. However, after I punched his singing, real estate selling brother, $%#@ got real. Prestige worldwide, the Catalina Wine-mixer, night vision goggles ... Did we just become best friends? YUP. Allan Macdonald, elusive and timeless, a modern day Shakespeare, a moving piece of art. Allan is an outdoorsman whose work ethic resembles that of Bear Grylls and Les Stroud. We wish you all the best in university - you were made for it - and all your future endeavors, whether it is becoming a youtube sensation with your brother Jack, enjoying riverboat gambling, or deep sea fishing. Your personality, sense of humour, and spontaneity will not go unnoticed - wherever you go, awkward or inappropriate, you brighten up a room. Finally, your camaraderie and loyalty will always be valued.

- Tim, Jose, & Tom

"Families is where our nation finds hope, where wings take dream" - actual quote from George W. Bush

BETH MACDONALD

Beth came to the school as the little nerdy girl looking to make an impact by going for class rep. At first, we thought she was a horse-crazed math loving geek, but as we got to know her better, we saw that she was a secret wild child. She is the fun party girl on the weekends but competes with the mathletes during the week. Even though she lives in the boonies, she still finds time for all of us. Her organization skills make sure all of her work gets done on time no matter how late she has to stay up at night. With a maximum of 3 hours of sleep, it still remains a shock of how Beth stays the bubbly little girl we all know and love. She's always up for a challenge like the JV basketball team or a solo in Willy Wonka. She has an online shopping addiction and is the best multi-tasker who can get away with online shopping in class or flirting with Albert in physics. She's always there for you when you need her, going out of her way to do anything for her friends, including driving Hilary to Needs at 7 in the morning. This earth-loving goddess has not eaten a single piece of meat since she bought her favourite horse Ralphie. Beth is truly the best friend we could ask for, and we are so lucky to have her in our lives. Her positive attitude has gotten us through some pretty rough times, and we don't know where we'd be without this amazing girl. This urban outfitters clad cutie has truly made her mark on Grammar and surely will be missed. We don't know what the future holds for Beth, but we sure know she will be successful in all her endeavors.

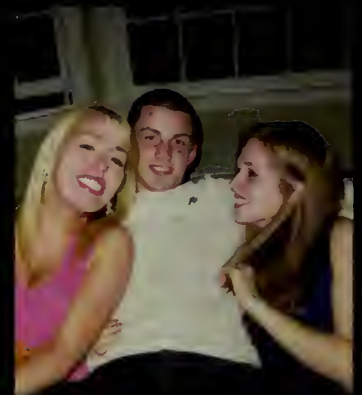

We love you forever, Abby, Hilary, and Hannah

MYLES MACNAUGHTON

Myles, mylos, ging, ginger...What can I say? You sort of adopted me into your family, well, TA did, and having known you for 3 years now, I have to say it's been crazy. From our summer in Syria together, to the car ride when you almost thought you were going to die, to the woo-woo at the Four Seasons and the many Romeo and Juliets and Montecristos that followed that night. Don't forget our late nights stressing over exams, your 18th birthday at Cut and the many phone breakups and make-ups you've overheard with me. Let's not forget meeting Rama. It's pretty easy to say that you're like a brother to me here in Hali. - Yasser Myles, though knowing him before HGS, I got to know him better throughout my 3 years here- and his greatest qualities became apparent. Most significant are his determination and strong will to succeed- on and off the basketball court. He seems to impress everyone he meets. Myles has been truly an amazing friend and my experience at Grammar would not have been the same without him. I know he will do great things in his future.

Cheers, Tim

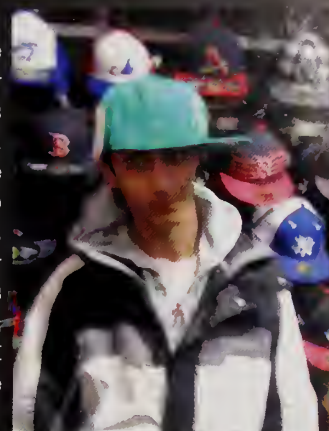

EMMA MACNUTT-BURROWS

Emma Macnutt came to Grammar in grade 11 and immediately showed what a sweet girl she is, almost as sweet as the chocolate pecan triangles that she had every day over our constant visits to Uncommon Grounds! Emma is not your average hometown girl; she has come a long way from Bermuda to Switzerland to here! She is not even your average IB student; somehow, she impressively managed to not even start her extended essay! During the past two years, she generously filled her free time with mocking my accent!!! Emma is a wonderful artist. She's also a professional "that's what she said" joker! The most amazing thing about her? She has the smallest feet that anyone's ever seen! And in case you're looking for her, she's probably spending the weekend in P.E.I. (sometimes Mon to Thu counts as the weekend)! After all, Emma, without exaggeration, you're one of the strongest people I've ever known in my life, and I'm sure you'll have the cutest kids in the world! xo prdx

MICHAEL MALAK

Michael Malak. Or is it Michel? Isn't there an Abdul in there somewhere? I've never been sure, to be honest. One thing I am sure of, if there's one person I can say I'm glad to have gone through Grammar with, it's my Spangyptian friend. You arrived in Grade 8, and immediately established yourself as the innocent kid who gets picked on. Have you ever recovered from MacNeil's piercing gaze after the vinegar incident? One would think, after that, you would have learned not to drop your binder, when Mr. Beazley told you not to in grade 10. I've learned this over these 5 short years. You're incredibly athletic, and your intelligence is underestimated far too often. Not only that, you're kind, humble, and reliable (we can always count on you to have food in your house). You often fly under the radar, but can be a leader if you want to (Calgary oh-'10!). Michael, I can not express how much I've appreciated you being my friend. I love how our conversations about whether or not to go to parties always end the same way, and that you're the only person I ever felt comfortable ranting to about my beliefs; knowing I have someone to share that with has made Grammar a lot more welcoming. I mean, there is no one I would rather be in a room cornered by Mormons with than you ... hypothetically, of course. You've got the whole package, my friend, and you'll be a great man/Irish doctor someday. -PF

ROBERT MAYHEW

Robert Boyd Mayhew and I have been acquaintances since grade 5. Naturally, many things have happened in those many years. I remember the days when some of us would try to convince Robert that curling was not a sport. I also remember him vehemently disagreeing. I can perfectly recall the days of Robert and I playing PSO splitscreen on my old one-foot-by-one-foot television. There was also the day that Robert came to my house on the week that Halo 3 was released, and we played through about three quarters of the game. I can't count the days that Robert has missed school, along with other engagements, to go to curling regionals, nationals, and skirmishes. In February, Robert curled in the Canada Winter Games. Indeed, 8 years has not affected the way I look at the sheer volume of good times that I've had with Robert, and I don't imagine that any amount of time ever will. And now, our time at the Grammar School is drawing to a swift close. Who knows where we will find ourselves next? Robert, I understand that you and I have had our ups and downs, and our good times and our bad times. It's very true that we haven't always seen eye to eye, and we have certainly not agreed on everything. Despite this, through all of the times that we have had together, I have never considered you as being anything less than an amazing friend. No matter what you find yourself doing in life, or where you find yourself doing it, I wish you all the best, with the utmost confidence that you will succeed. Your friend, Kenzie Delo, aka Kraft Dinner

EMILY MCBRIDE

Ever since primary, Emily has been the class heartbreaker. Wooing the boys with her athletic skills in the Prep School, followed by her converse and Fall Out Boy tunes in the Middle School; she sure was a catch. She's gone from brunette to blond to blue-haired, and her boyfriends have been just as varied. From the long-term love with AW to the epic romances of her teen years, Emily certainly has made a few boys cry along her journey through Grammar. More impressive than her extensive dating history is her constant commitment to her friends and her family. You can always count on Emily to put everything aside to be there for you no matter what. At any given time, Emily can be found wearing one of the following: sweatpants, a token American apparel dress or something of yours. Just like her abstract fashion sense, Emily has yet to understand the meaning of boundaries. Put best in her own words: "I do what I want." Her philosophy that may seem extreme to others only adds to her magnetic charm. We love you so much Emily, and we are so grateful to have you as a best friend. X O forever -Abby, Freya, and Kathleen

From the eaves at Hilary's old house to the eaves at Beth's, I have been with em since the start of our Grammar lives together. She is the most amazing friend anyone could ever ask for and is always there when you need her. I can't believe we have made it to the end! Chem class will be so strange without you next year. Love always, your twin since primary, han

MEAGHAN MCTIERNAN

Meine Frau und Frendin, since we've met in grade 8/11, we've come to know you quite well. Since the first day of grade 11, when I ignored you and got off to a bad start until I realized you lived 0.2 minutes away, you've become like another sister to me. I, on the other hand, bonded with you immediately. Something about the fact that we have always had the same dislikes allowed us to know what the other was thinking without actually saying so. Somehow, we managed to get along as well, even though you're possibly the most stubborn of all my friends (minus during the physics cram sessions, when it was always 'me do me do' :P). Of all the amazingly random things we've done together, my fondest memories are from die Riese nach Deutschland ... Walking around small rainy villages discussing alle die Probleme mit der Jungen ... ;) somehow, that seems to be remarkably similar to our trip to Disney; although it was like a month and a half, you were the only one of the fam that I didn't get tired of. You are also the only Mädchen that I didn't get tired of. And that's saying something. I'll miss our lovely discussions and stories and rantings about our lives. I will immer dich vermissen. We wish you success with the rest of your life, and hope that you will always be happy. Ps, Emily says: megstokips, even though you often cheated in ringette, you're still one of my faves. The probability of your success in life is an absolute value. -AC2

ALEXANDER MORRIS

Alex Morris surfed his way into HGS in grade 7 and instantly set the stage for a plethora of stories almost as plentiful as the sick air he caught off that 19 feet of powder the other day. The fact that he is known by his fellow classmates as simply... Alex Morris (saying it any other way just doesn't feel right) is a testament to his character. Alex Norris, I mean Morris, is kind, friendly, knowledgeable, opinionated, and disturbingly helpful at times, especially when you need someone with technical expertise (ie brute force) to fix something. And that which he just can't seem to fix or find a use for, he delights in positioning himself comfortably and "swishing" it into the nearest garbage. Funnily enough, he never really seems to have gotten the hang of it, a fact that teachers have undoubtedly noticed out of the corner of their eyes. Although a definite slacker in both class and at home, his intelligence is more than enough to compensate for it (improvising a French oral for example). Alex "Release the Kraken!" Morris was always more interested in playing games on his iPhone than listening to Dr. Friesen's description of a synecdoche anyways. If he's not doing that, he's whistling "Streamline" or waiting for that telltale clown-nose sound (that somehow teachers are deaf to) to tell him that his Daily Babe application has been updated. Although a rather skilled athlete (perhaps lacking in the hand-eye coordination department), the same cannot be said for his driving, and his reckless endeavours ensure he returns to school each week with a new scratch, cut, bruise on his neck (again?), or torn ACL. Every grade needs an Alex Morris, but we're proud to say that the real one is graduating with us this year, and will undeniably go on to great success. Alex, your character may be what grabs people's attention, but it's your intelligence and helpfulness that will get you far in life. We will truly, truly miss you, but we can sleep safe knowing that, wherever you go, there's always gonna be a Superbowl in the future, and, therefore, always a reason to hang out and catch up with our man Alex Morris. Wait...do I smell popcorn? All the best bro - PF, MM.

JOSE PAIUG

Jose came to Grammar as a confused ESL student in grade 11. Emily first interacted with Jose whilst he was in his "epic stance". Sadly, he ignored her. Jose then progressed in Grammar as an HL mathlete and golf "superstar". Although now Jose is obviously smart and talented, he often resorts to eating food off the floor, and once considered this to be a romantic date idea. Interestingly, Jose's Filipino upbringing has made him comfortable with things that Grammarians were unaccustomed to. Examples of this include, but are not limited to, his lack of smell, intimate man touches, and his fondness of nipple-revealing tight v-neck shirts. After breaching these boundaries, Jose has shown himself to be "vewy smahhh" and a very hard worker. His average and academic acclamations go beyond supporting this claim; however, his French skills only reach the FTL level. Not only is Jose a gentleman and scholar, he is also an upcoming WNBA player and Dal arts musician. He can always be found shooting with his left hand, although right handed, or doubling as Barrel/Hot Blades Harry. In fact, this musical role is what allowed him to find an accent better than his own, and fall in love with the word 'quorum'. After high school, if we go our separate ways, Allan will continue to speak to you on the phone for an average of two hours every night. Emily will always have her orange-stuffed twin, who will always remind her of her baby sloth (who can cute her out of, or into, anything). As things move forward, she's sure you'll always be able to "Come On Get Higher" and achieve whatever you put your mind to. AM & EM

HANNAH PRICE

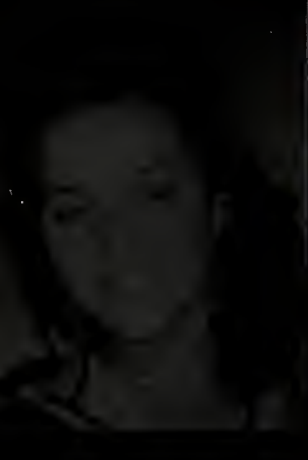

Hannah arrived to Grammar as a fresh faced, eye-patched cutie in Primary. She has been a prominent part of our school ever since, with definitely the most lifer spirit. After all, she was the one who introduced everyone to the German/Swedish(?) Basshunter song "Bass Ana" in Grade 8 before it became popular as an American phenomenon ("Now Your Gone?") Although she can be extremely angry at times, it only adds to her sass, and that's why we love her. Some of our best times with Hannah happened at the library... and at her house in the middle of the night...no nothing dirty, simply downing espresso shots chased with frozen hot chocolate desperately cramming for exams. Good thing that is nothing like our weekend (Friday night) activities Or is it? What furthers our love and appreciation of Miss Price is her uncanny ability to not only get all her work done, but yet still be up to date on EVERY television show out there (worth watching...Skins, 90210, Grey's, Gossip Girl, Glee, you name it). If this was The Iliad, Hannah would be the goddess of sports ... from captain of the soccer team, to, oh wait, captain again of the JV bball team, to being a snowboarder extraordinaire, she excels in each athletic endeavor she pursues. But above all, Hannah is the most incredible friend and her dedication to her friendships is truly something to be admired. She is always there for us no matter what, whether we need a shoulder to cry on, a pep talk, someone to vent to, or someone to giggle obnoxiously with. We are so thankful to have this loving, crazy, amazing girl in our lives, and Grammar would truly not have been the same without her. Love always and forever, Beth and Abby

TESSA STAMMBERGER

Tessa arrived to HGS in grade 11 a little shy, but where the buzz of her basketball skills was already spreading. After the first few weeks of school, Tessa got more comfortable and I've come to know her as a funny, loving, smart, and amazing athlete; I am ecstatic to know someone so incredible. Sitting with you in math class in the daytime doing work, and then seeing you play in games at night was outstanding. The thing I love most about you is whenever you put your mind to something, you achieve it. With that, I know whatever you choose to do in the future, you'll own it. Good luck. Love you, superstar. - BH

Tessa came to our school in grade eleven. She was the pretty new girl who was A-M-A-Z-I-N-G at basketball. Initially, Tessa was the quiet, artistic, beauty, but as time went on and basketball started up, we all got to know her and love her more and more. She is one of the nicest girls we know, and she is definitely always there for you when you need her. Her P.E.I. roots did not hold her back, even though when she came to Grammar she didn't know what Romeo and Juliet was. .. ha ha and her love for potatoes brought her lots of success in the new home of Nova Scotia. She is a basketball and track star and extremely athletic. As a starter for both grade 11 and grade 12, she led the basketball team with her long arms allowing her to get EVERY single rebound she could get, receiving the title of "Ninja". Her points generally vary between 20-30 points a game...which is...BOMB, and we love her on the team more than anything. Oh AND she is also the starter post and point guard....question mark to that one.... :) One funny story about Tessa is her hate of the scootering tribes in the streets of Disney, and her love for American culture. She absolutely will not return to The States anytime soon. She also never fails to tell us about her adventures on her bicycle and encounters with her dear brother. We hope that you have an amazing time at university and we'll love you always, fellow captain. You're the best on and off the court (tear, tear) LOVE YOU DEUTSCH BEAUTY :) -Hilary and Kathleen, the other captains, minus Denesha :D

ABIGAIL SUISSA

Abby has been at HGS as long as her hair is. The first memory that comes to mind is her dedication to the Smackers Club, located in a thorn bush. In grade nine, Abby spent her time listening to Panic @the Disco and hoping for sunny days. Since then, Abby has blossomed through her awkward phase that carried her to high school and we have had the privilege to make dear (or secret in some cases) and lasting friendships with her. Abby's time in high school can be documented through phases: good little Jewish girl, 90's groupie, indie-chic, punk rocker, gym bum to the current hipster; all stages complete with appropriate jeggings. As the most generous girl we know, Abby is never hesitant to lend out her extensive wardrobe or time or help whenever it is needed. She's always willing to share her personal hype machine, spanning from the XX to CHAT music to ... "90's Nickleback"? Despite her occasional anxious freakouts, Abby is extremely organized and always pulls out top marks and has the injured hands to prove it. She can always recount what happened on TV last night and won't hesitate to convert you to her fan clubs. She has mended countless broken hearts and has 101 ways to keep your mind off of it. If you are ever trying to find Abby, listen for her jingling bracelets as she texts away on her crackberry. Always up for a gym stop, a coffee break, a trip to our log field, a bento box or a swim and a tan, Abby is always fun to be around, even when she's doing her arm dance. She keeps us on track and always knows what's needed. She is a beautiful artist, efficient stage manager, wonderful yearbook editor and above all, an amazing friend. We are truly thankful to have this bundle of joy in our lives. Where will Abby be in the near future? IMDB it. She'll no doubt pop up in some prominent behind-the-scenes business position ... or in Shia's arms. Love, Freya, Kathleen, and Emily

SIOBHAN WELCH

I first met Siobhan in Grade 8. I knew by her style and the fact that I couldn't spell or even pronounce her name (a "B" and an "H" make a "V" sound? What country is this?) that she'd be an interesting person. She has always been really involved in the community in a behind-the-scenes way; that is to say, she's the only person any of us have seen Mr. B give giant stacks of 20's to (ahhh candy cave), and she always seems to be somewhere in the school musicals. Siobhan is going to Bishops next year, and whatever she decides to focus on, I hope she knows we all remember her brief two and a half year obsession with Clay Aiken.

-Rylan "Shark Week" Greer

Siobhan, aka the queen of Sobey's, is one of the first people who opened up to me when I was lost and confused in Grammar's hallway (because it's huge!!!!). Since then, we went through a lot together and highlights of these years would be Siobhan's hair transition from green to red to black, breaking my ankle at her birthday, getting deaf after the "Lamb of God" concert (yeah we're bad ass!) and many other memories. Overall, Siobhan Welch is a wonderful friend and I have nothing but love for her! Btw, burn your trampoline! xo prdx

MATTHEW ZWICKER

Matt's that guy who's probably doing something creative right now. If he's not shooting a hilarious video with us, he's probably playing an instrument: be it drums, trumpet, piano, guitar, or guinea pig; you name it, he plays it. Some have likened his visionary genius to Steven Spielberg and James Cameron, but he possesses something neither has: a lack of funds. This aside, Matt continues to produce stellar videos, and he's always coming up with new ideas. His Scottish heritage may be the source of this brilliance; however, this has yet to be confirmed. Despite his highland warrior blood, Matt is not afraid to show his sentimental side; you'd be hard-pressed to find a more genuine friend. But don't think he's a softie; he's a regular William Wallace and can dual-wield claymores (yeah, you heard us). R and K Present: M, the best friend we could ask for. RKM4L - Roman and Kief.

bunk reports

pardis

Nickname: Paradox. Prdx
Pet Peeve: Children, polite people
Celebrity Look-A-Like: Eva Longoria
Most Embarrassing Moment: day with Sio at Pete's Most Likely To: Die after too much hooka!

ravee

Nickname: Mingming
Pet Peeve: Not having exact change.
Celebrity Look-A-Like: I want to say Jackie Chan
Most Embarrassing Moment: "I'm only scared of tampons because I used to wipe my face with them until I realized what they were. I thought 'tampons' was French for something."
Most Likely To: Earn a restraining order from Taylor Swift.

tim

Nickname: Nighthawk
Pet Peeve: Anything social after 10:30
Celebrity Look-A-Like: Drake
Most Embarrassing Moment: "I thought consensual just meant you had to be the same age?"
Most Likely To: Marry an Asian wife who is 30 years younger than him

tom

Nickname: The Edge, Tommy Go-Lucky, 007
Pet Peeve: Female Drivers
Celebrity Look-A-Like: Daniel Craig / John Stamos
Most Embarrassing Moment: Not dazzling the Cincinnati Rep.
Most Likely To: Have a lifetime of girlfriends who like him for his accent

rylan

Nickname: The Yellow Dart/Hancy Boy/Five-Hundo a week
Pet Peeve: conversation mistakes/not making eye contact Celebrity Look-A-Like: Tim Heideker
Most Embarrassing Moment: haircut grades 8-9
Most Likely To: Never find the pizza

freya

Nickname: Fwey, Bebe Frey Frey, Mom, T'ts
Pet Peeve: Bra-straps, Meat, Opposing opinions
Celebrity Look-A-Like: Pamela Anderson
Most Embarrassing Moment: The Rock of Syphilis
Most Likely To: Feature in a Victoria's Secret custom shop catalog

kiefer

Nickname: Kief
Pet Peeve: When people say delish instead of delicious.
Celebrity Look-A-Like: Carlos Tevez
Most Embarrassing Moment: "Wait . . . I'm . . . not . . . Roman?"
Most Likely To: Create a new genre of music called opera-hop fusion.

barsha

Nickname: Barsh
Pet Peeve: The dark
Celebrity Look-A-Like: Shabana
Most Embarrassing Moment: "In math class * Barsha was solving a super complicated calculus question. By the end of it, she asked, "um... what's 2 times 6...?"
Most Likely To: Become an upgraded version of smartie pants in Dalhousie

shahrzad

Nickname: Sharzy
Pet Peeve: Rude people
Most Embarrassing Moment: When she yelled "corpoler"(instead of corporal)!
Celebrity Look-A-Like: Kim Kardashian
Most Likely To: Become a super model slash dancer :P

pelham

Nickname: Pel-Ham, Pee-Eff
Pet Peeve: 99% and lower Celebrity Look-A-Like: Robert Pattinson
Most Embarrassing Moment: That thing. In that room. In Calgary. With the toilet. Yeah...
Most Likely To: Become the next Obama

becky

Nickname: Becky
Pet Peeve: having an old kind of phone when her dad can obviously get her the newest one :) haha
Celebrity Look-A-Like: Lacey Chabert (Gretchen Wieners in Mean Girls)
Most Embarrassing Moment: Falling on the rock and twisting an ankle at Keji : ( Most Likely To: Stop a war with a smile

grace

Nickname: Grace
Pet Peeve: food that's too spicy
Celebrity Look-A-Like: Kyoko Fukada
Most Embarrassing Moment: reading waves at the Killam
Most Likely To: Be teaching Kiefer Korean roman

Nickname: Roman (it's cool enough)
Pet Peeve: Kief and Matt's combined lack of focus.
Celebrity Look-A-Like: Cristiano Ronaldo
Most Embarrassing Moment: "I'm a frog." (Grade 6)
Most Likely To: Make A-Rab Money

alex. c

Nickname: Chun
Pet Peeve: stains, disorganization, marks, etc
Celebrity Look-A-Like: Kim Yu-Na
Most Embarrassing Moment: When you fall every second of your life
Most Likely To: graduate... _ and still live with your parents

kathleen

Nickname: Kat, K-Dawg
Pet Peeve: Feet
Celebrity Look-A-Like: Miranda Hobbes
Most Embarrassing Moment: Sean's rug
Most Likely To: Marry a Jew

philip

Nickname: Phil, Gores
Pet Peeve: Bossy women
Celebrity Look-A-Like: Phil of the future
Most Embarrassing Moment: "old man music" on his iPod
Most Likely To: Practice his "old man music" songs on the guitar yasser

Nickname: Prince Ali
Pet peeve: poor people
Celebrity Look-A-Like: Aladdin
Most Embarrassing Moment: Too cool
Most Likely To: be immune to the recession glen

Nickname: Glenneth, Glen Coco
Pet Peeve: Marauders
Celebrity Look-A-Like: IdrA
Most Embarrassing Moment: Torvald
Most Likely To: Get a hot girlfriend

albert

Nickname: albs, a-train
Pet Peeve: Trying to explain Physics to Meaghan Celebrity Look-A-Like: Al Pacino (Our favourite waitress told us how to spell this) Most Embarrassing Moment: Bedford sloppies (and the mini-ride home)
Most Likely To: Be with Beth

sam

Nickname: "quite a Shnawz" or just "Shnawz"
Pet Peeve: People putting off writing his grad write-up Celebrity Look-A-Like: Ang Lee...I'm totally serious
Most Embarrassing Moment: "4 on the floor"
Most Likely To: Out-argue himself

kenzie

Nickname: Kraft Dinner
Pet Peeve: modern music
Celebrity Look-A-Like: Sean White
Most Embarrassing Moment: Too cool
Most Likely To: Be in a Hollywood film

hilary

Nickname: hilla billa, boathouse
Pet Peeve: raisins
Celebrity Look-A-Like: Mischa Barton
Most Embarrassing Moment: Turkish kisses
Most likely to: Sail forever

patricia

Nickname: Patty-O or Patty
Pet Peeve: When people (her mom) moves her things Celebrity Look-A-Like: Zooey Deschanel (with a tan)
Most Embarrassing Moment: Too cool
Most Likely To: Take over Canada/Become prime minister adrian

Nickname: (ugly) Arnold, Ginga Ninga
Pet Peeve: tornadoes / Carrot-Top
Celebrity Look-A-Like: Rupert Grint (aka Ron Weasley)
Most Embarrassing Moment: the day he came in with carrot-top hair Most Likely To: become a big name in the art world

bunk reports

allan

Nickname: Brennan Huff / Nighthawk
 Pet Peeve: germs
 Celebrity Look-A-Like: Kevin Garnett
 Most Embarrassing Moment: Being pantsed in front of Mme. Trott and the entire train Most Likely To: Be arrested for assault, represent himself in court, and be acquitted of all charges

robert

Nickname: Robot
 Pet Peeve: when people think curling is not a sport
 Celebrity Look-A-Like: Ashton Kutcher
 Most Embarrassing Moment: Too cool
 Most Likely To: Throw a rock at a house, thinking he was curling

alex m.

Nickname: Alexmorris
 Pet Peeve: Not being able to throw things into the garbage can, but everywhere else.
 Celebrity Look-A-Like: Scar Face
 Most Embarrassing Moment: Getting pants-ed in Grade six in the Middle of the School Playground.
 Most Likely To: Have a permanent hickey.

tessa

Nickname: Tess
 Pet Peeve: slow computers
 Celebrity Look-A-Like: Jojo
 Most Embarrassing Moment: Trying to make a fire at Keji...in a laundry pit Most Likely To: Be a bball star

beth

Nickname: Bethy, Bethykins
 Pet Peeve: stupid people
 Celebrity Look-A-Like: Brittany Snow
 Most Embarrassing Moment: Too cool for one Most Likely To: Lose all her smarts by falling off a horse

emily

Nickname: Em
 Pet Peeve: Being single Celebrity Look-A-Like: Huckleberry Finn
 Most Embarrassing Moment: Ginger phase
 Most Likely To: Be a car salesman

jose

Nickname: Hose, Big Daddy J, ...Joel
 Pet Peeve: When people throw out their crusts...or any food Celebrity Look Alike: Jet-Li
 Most Embarrassing Moment: Body tackling Casper at the 2009 Grammar Classic
 Most Likely To: Have eight children who will eat him out of house and home emma

Nickname: em, stumpy
 Pet Peeve: letting the cats out
 Celebrity Look-A-Like: Scarlett Johansson
 Most Embarrassing Moment: Too cool
 Most Likely To: Be on the toilet

myles

Nickname: Ginger
 Pet Peeve: waiting / people being late Celebrity Look-A-Like: Seth Green
 Most Embarrassing Moment: Too cool
 Most Likely To: Buy a dog and raise a family

mike

Nickname: Michelle, Spangyptian
 Pet Peeve: people eating his food
 Celebrity Look-A-Like: Prince of Egypt
 Most Embarrassing Moment: hitting a tree and a truck within two days Most Likely To: literally be a child/open a children's hospital and literally accept care from it meaghan

Nickname: Wifey, Meg
 Pet Peeve: An assortment of things that border on OCD
 Celebrity Look-A-Like: Hayden Panettiere
 Most Embarrassing Moment: D.G.
 Most Likely To: Be the first female on the NHL

hannah

Nickname: Han, Hammy
 Pet Peeve: Everything and everyone
 Celebrity Look-a-like: Emma Stone
 Most Embarrassing Moment: Too cool
 Most Likely To: Live in Sweden and become a professional female snowboarder and go to therapy for angst issues

abby

Nickname: Abs
 Pet Peeve: The radio
 Celebrity Look-A-Like: Alanis Morissette...middle part?
 ...more likely Rachel Bilson
 Most Embarrassing Moment: "straightener iron burn" 2011
 Most Likely To: Be your boss someday

siobhan

Nickname: sio, swelch
 Pet Peeve: Boring hair
 Celebrity Look-A-Like: Billy Joel
 Armstrong's wife
 Most Embarrassing Moment: Too cool
 Most Likely To: Own Sobey's

matthew

Nickname: Matt
 Pet Peeve: When we have to do retakes because Kief isn't loud enough.
 Celebrity Look-A-Like: Steven Spielberg
 Most Embarrassing Moment: When he Tarzan-ed off the bunk-bed in Quebec.
 Most Likely To: Save the world using a blockbuster film

bests of 2011

BESTS:	GIRL	BOY
Dressed	Abby	Roman & Kiefer
Eyes	Hannah	Tim
Smile	Freya	Tom
Hair	Shahrzad	Roman
Mathlete	Alex C.	Philip
Athlete	Tessa	Myles
Performer	Hilary	Kenzie
Artist	Abby	Adrian
Contagious Laugh	Emma	Jose

BESTS:	GIRL	BOY
Lifer	Hannah	Matthew
Grammar Spirit	Freya	Pelham
Flirt	Emily	Albert
Class Clown	Patricia	Allan
Personality	Beth	Michael
Tease	Hilary	Tim
Couple	Grace &	Kiefer
Guidette/Guido	Kathleen	Yasser

Kiefer and Roman

Alex C.

Becky

Tom

Barsha

Sam

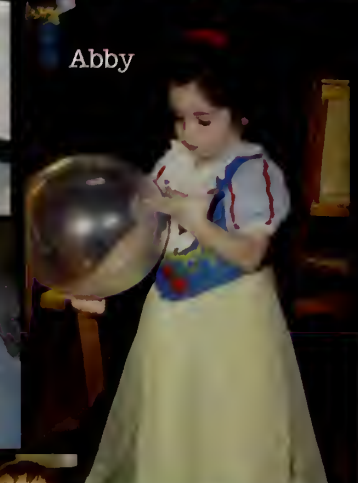

Hilary

Emily

Rylan

Abby

Shahrzad

Tim

Ravvee

Albert

Alex M.

Grace

Allan

Jose

Hannah

Freya

Patricia

Kathleen

Beth

Pardis

Siobhan

Robert

Michael

Tessa

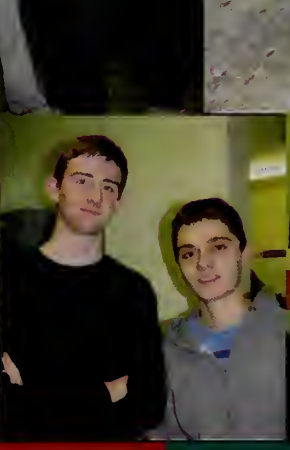

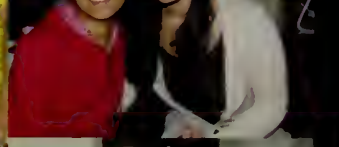

Meghan

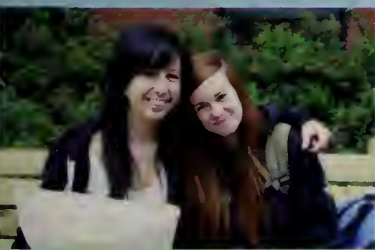

Matthew

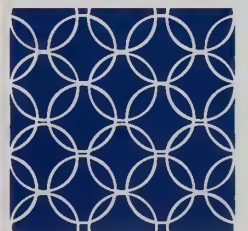

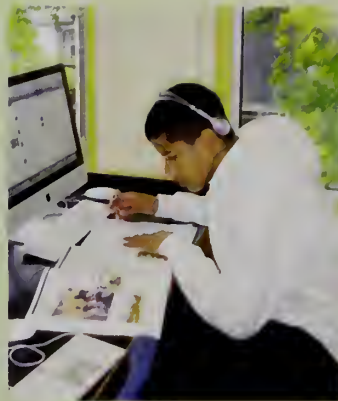

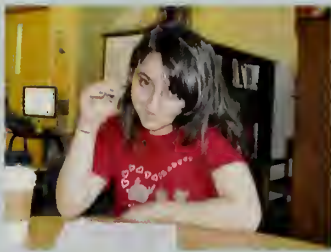

through the years...

Senior School

Senior 2

Leigha Acott

Asya Avcı

Mathieu Charles Blouin

Sai Bolleddula

Grace Bu

Alice Calder

WonJae Cho

Alexander Dawson

Fatemeh Farzaneh

Mark Flowerdew

Gillian Fong-McMaster

Chloe Forrest

Matthew Gallupe

Everett Grunsky

Thomas Gwynne-Timothy

Florent Herbingier

Dominique Hill

Mitchell Jacobs

Martazia Johan

Kelsey Keddy

KeonJoo Lee

Ryan Lee

Arielle Legere

Alexander Lingley

Senior 2

Isabella Ludovice

Alexander McBride

John Muir

Debi Ogunrinde

Ian Palmeter

Daniel Park

Jeric Pauig

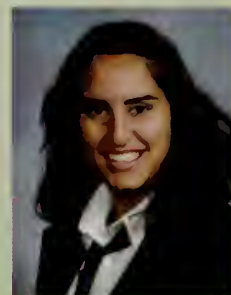

Jonathan Perrie

Hamza Rshaidat

Junil Seo

Mareina Sidhom

Kiran Sivakumar

Ashton Slawter

Valerie Sokolenko

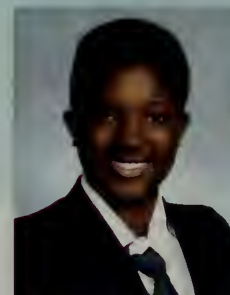

Sven Stammberger

Amanda Stanton

Denesha Sule

Chitinthi Tembo

Daniel Thompson

Shayla Tolliver

Colin Vandenhof

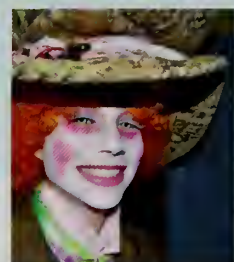

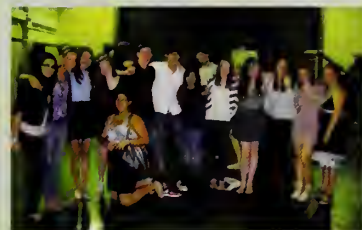

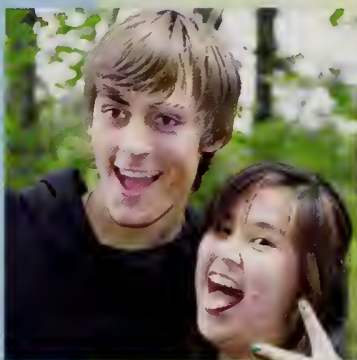

Amanda Volcko

Marvin Wu

Belce Yoruk

Senior 1

Sydney Adamson

Jonathan Attenborough

Sara Bagheri

Jessica Basta

Oliver Björnsson

Roman Braitsev

Laura Brown-Crowell

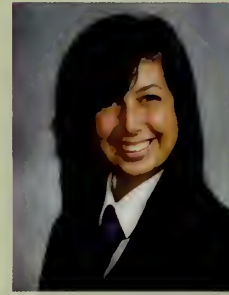

Ian Burke

Gabrielle Casha

Soleil Chahine

Nicole Chater

Alistair Chauhan

Paige Conrad

Mark Egelhoff

Liam Elbourne

Oliver Falvey

Tosin Fashoranti

Mary Ellen Forward

John Fraser

Rosalie Fries

Hannah Ghosn

Annika Gnann

Adelle Goodfellow

Ankur Gupta

Giselle Hage

Senior 1

Katherine Hage

Angad Hundal

Bassel Kalai

Thanasi Kipouros

Sven Klein

Micah Lacson

Lily Li

Jack MacDonald

Amit Malik

Jane McLaughlin

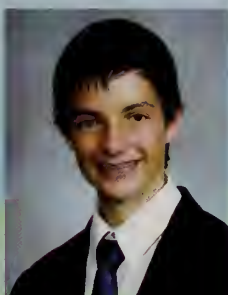

Rory McParland

Patrick Morris

Maha Naeem

Blake Newell

Vladimir Pavlov

Kathleen Ross

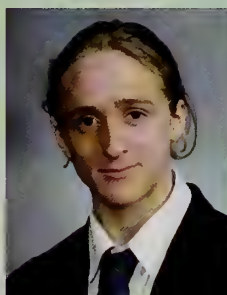

Jeremy Rutledge

Claudia Sekula

Tommy Shim

Niclas Skaalum

Ellen Snook

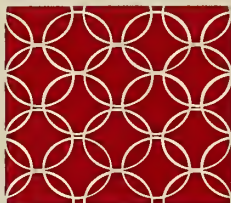

Ji Su Song

Michaela Title

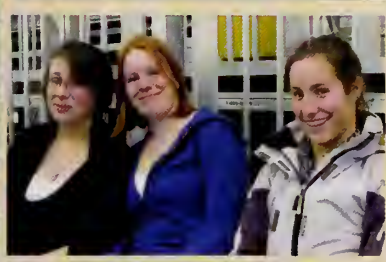

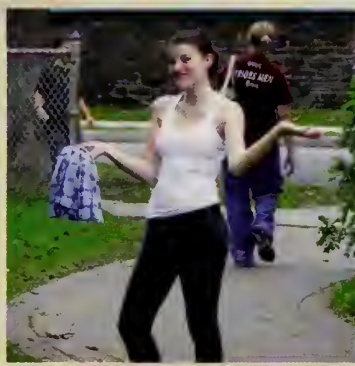

Sophie Zimmer

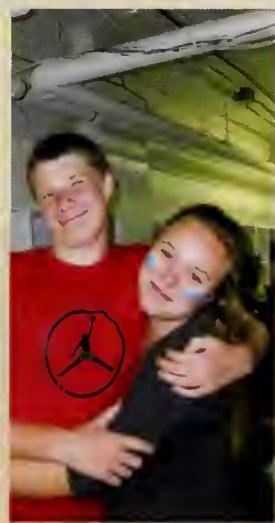

Middle School

M5

M5 Danford

Aram Al-Afif

James Bass

Julia Baydar

Michael Fraser

Morgan Hage

Liam Johnson

Garrett Mallery

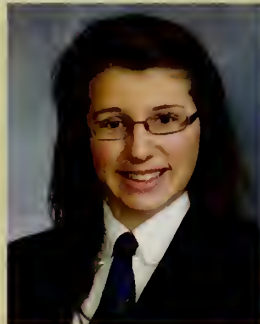

Amy Minnikin

Lucy Morgan

Leah Morris

Eleanor Morum

Jura Peddle

Lauren Ross

BJ Spurr

Tessa Touesnard

Samantha Wallace

Geoffrey Zed

M5 Ellis

Ursula Calder

Marc Cameron

Eve Casha

Lara Casha

Shahrddad Daliran

Ian Dawson

Claire Fong-McMaster

Chantelle Fynn

McKara Johnson

Michelle Kim

Robyn Lane

Madeleine MacLean

Jake Megaffin

Christine Moore

Hamish Neilson

Cameron Vihant

Iain Welch

Claire West

Jennifer Wu

M5 MacNeil

Bradley Acott

Jordan Bezanson

William Bluteau

Maya Gantar

Boston Ghosn

Franziska Gnann

Simon Herbinger

Andrew Honderich

Inhwa Kim

Minsoo Koh

Renuka Koilpillai

Trevor Law

Andrew Machum

Aiden McKinnon

Richard Myrden

Jaehoon Noh

Elizabeth O'Carroll

Quinn Stewart

William Stordy

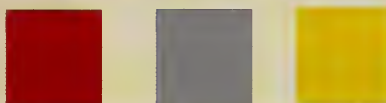

Bryson Tomcik

Richard Waller

M4

M4 Hatfield

Julia Boyle

Maggie Brennan

AJ Case

Alina Chen

Andrew Delicaet

Abigail Falvey

Christian Ghosn

Dyrel Johnson

Hailey Johnston

Sara Jovanovic

Alex Kim

Jeremy Laflamme

Jill MacDonald

Lily Mahody

Eve Muir

Ramin Nejat

Owen Patterson

Alexander Peapell

Sophie Poulos

Faisal Rshaidat

Mark Saldanha

Yanis Smith

Gabriel Stephen

Jessica Ur

Erica Weigand

M4 Kiley

Shelby Bass

Jonathan Basta

Angus Doane

Joe Edgerton

Gareth Ellis

Jeremy Fraser

Ava Gordon

Seasy Huang

Ghazal Kalai

Sally Kim

Alister Knox

Antonia Lewin-LaFrance

Carolin Lewitzka

Ellen Merchant

Simon Murdoch

Harrison Scholes

Jacob Steele

Megan Sutton

Tara Sverko

Justin Wallace

Natalie Williams

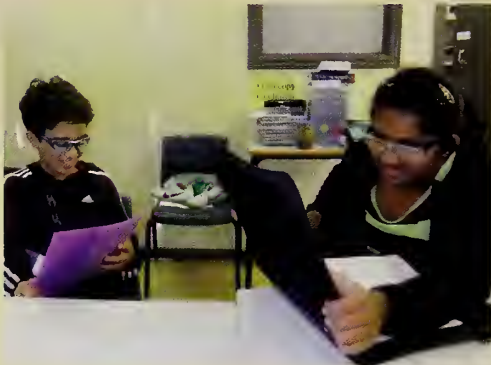

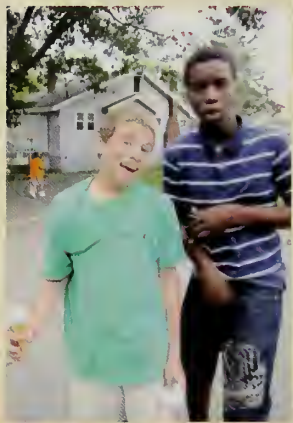

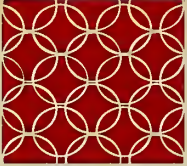

Jelani Wright

Roxaneh Zaminpeyma

Robyn Zwicker

M3 Couillard

David Baldrige

Seung Jae Cho

Dami Fashoranti

Tom Fraser

Deschanel Fynn

Chris Jiang

Louise Laeson

Sam Legere

Lily Li

Julia Liu

Toby Partridge

Aria Publicover

Bennett Rees

Doosik Shin

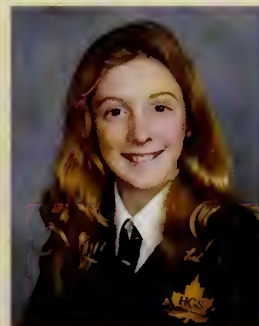

Jason Smith

Lauren Stevens

Krish Thapar

Annalise Wallace

M3 Walsh

Yahia Ali

Ahmed Eldik

Niamh Fraser

Ben Grantmyre

Anjali Kapilan

Julia Kim

Matthew Machum

Mairi McKinnon

Michael Murphy

Maryam Naeem

Claire Neilson

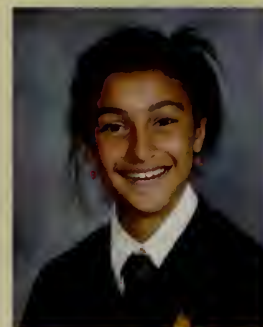

Jim Prescott

Kaisla Richardson

Graham Rutledge

Maryanne Sadek

Deivan Steele

Jacob Suissa

Gregor Zed

M3 Woodford

Khalil Benjamin

Jack deGooyer

Joshua Egelhof

Kieran Flannery-Fleck

Lin Frazer

Alexandra Gallivan

Nika Gantar

Carra Honderich

Abbie Jenkins

Angus MacLean

Kelvin Mansaray

Cameron Moffatt

Katherine Morris

Michael Morris

Scott Myrden

Neyaz Saberi

Benyamin Shaker

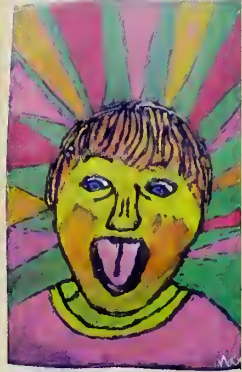

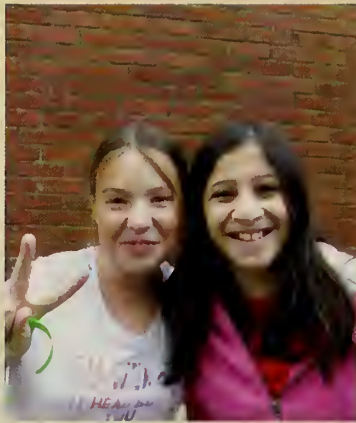

Jill Taylor

Michael Waller

Charlotte Warr

M2 Trott-Zisserson

Julia Acott

Barrett Dachyshyn

Kirk Drabble

Hannah Ellis

Jack Farrell

Riley Foran

Shikha Gupta

Connor Keefe

Alix Lane

Michelle Lee

Edison Li

Jack Lu

Jack Mahody

Julie Moore

Evan Ross

Olivia Smith

Andrew Son

Una Sverko

Ethan Xu

M2 Wiggin

Miranda Crawley

Conor Foran

Max Gross

Aidan Harris

Benaz Hasan

Chad Hendrickson

William Kim

Jacob Kingston

Emma Laffoley

Simon Law

Jeonggyun Lee

Georgia Lewin LaFrance

Ewan McPhee

Julie Mosher

Alexa Pirie

William Scholes

Brian Seo

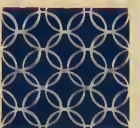

Milena Smith

Masa Sweidan

Annie Wang

M1 Goodfellow

Jamie Grant

Adam Hassan

Amy Huang

Alicia Jacob

Faress Kalai

Bessie Lecker-Evans

Martina Lee

Nicholas Mason

Samuel Peapell

Angelo Savvopoulos

Jack Warr

Kaylee Woo

Monica Wu

M1 Laffoley

Justin Boutilier-Hirsch

Duncan Brydie

Emmery Bureau

Noah Dempster

Jade Frazer

Mark MacKay

Andrew Moffatt

Maggie O'Brien

Galen Pickett

Shawn Shahin

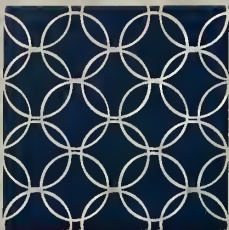

Dimitra Tsimiklis

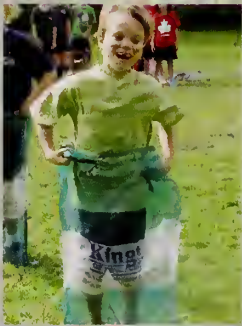

Katie Waller

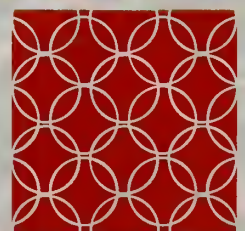

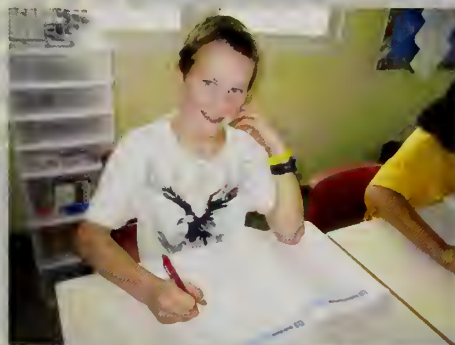

Edie Wilson

Prep School

P4 Curran

Isobel Anderson

Mac Bagnell

Sawyer Bailly

Kieran Baskett

Sasha Boutilier-Hirsch

Ryan Burke

Onika Drabble

Hannah Givner

Stelios Haniias

Jackson Hunter

Andrea Jacob

Alexandra Jenkins

Lauren Jollimore-Behie

Ian Keefe

Julia Law

Jackson Leckey

Anna Nicolela

Julian Oxner

Jack Suitor

Noelle Tsimiklis

P4 O'Carroll

Thomas Adamo-Schmidt

Michael Baldrige

Natalie Berry

Caroline Covert

Olivia De Jager

Marlaina Gallivan-MacDonald

Michaela Hammond

Drew Harper

Amir Hasan

William Honderich

Ethan Johnston

Nabeel Kahwash

James McCrea

Thomas Megaffin

John Mosher

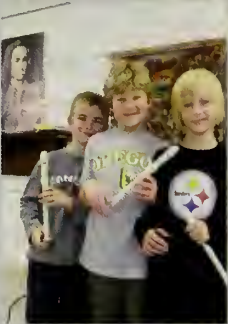

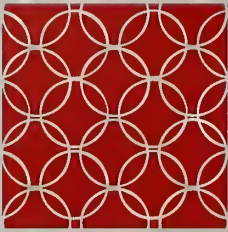

Owen Stuttard

Talha Syed

Thianna Woo

P3 Mangusso

Euan Brydie

Julien Couillard

Michael Crawley

Seren Ellis

Sach Flowerdew

Matthew Fraser

Kieron Harper

Cate McPhee

Ethan O'Brien

Alexander Powers

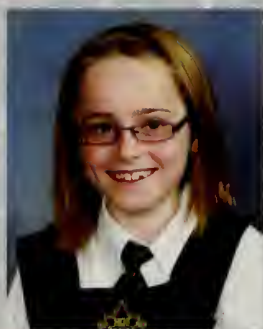

Charlotte Smith

Alex Yan

P3 MacDonald

Anna Bakowsky

Abby Beaumont

Matthew Farrell

Hilary Fotheringham

Andrew Gillis

Hunter Hache

Gillian Jenkins

Ella Keefe

Ethan Marshall-Harris

Kai Patel

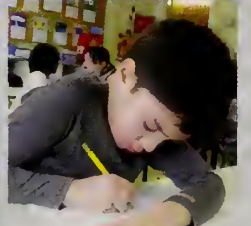

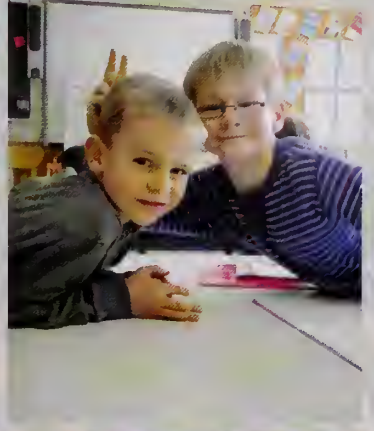

Liam Pirie

Grace Rix

Henry Wilson

P2 Hawker

Olin Bailly

Max Bodurtha

Lila Brock

Emma Burke

Dimitri Hantias

Lara Jollimore-Behie

Jae Won Kang

Jonathan Keats

Grant Keefe

Hamaad Khan

Sophie McKegney

Ayman Najaf

Alexander Oxner

Emma Robertson

Charlie Sutor

Ibrahim Sweidan

P2 Lynch

Seamus Adams

Ryan Berry

Thomas Bowes

Jarah Bureau

Rebekkah Celikkanat

Gabriel David

Riley Devitt

Aya Kalai

Benjamin Koshi

Meredith Leckey

Connor Norwood

Lily Reid

Ava Robertson

John Scholes

Cole Smith-Evans

Sophie Smith Stewart

P1 Gallupe

Liam Bates

Bennett Beaumont

Alexander Brushett

Carson Devitt

William Hardman

Caleigh Jessome

Hamza Kalai

Duncan O'Brien

Sascha Patel

Isabel Regan

Elizabeth Savage

Lauren Secord

Maxwell Smith

P1 Messenger

Giulia Casha

Austin Haché

Noor Kahwash

Henry Keefe

Timothy Levy

Lord Naeem

Kyle Smith

Ryan Smith

Hyung Min Song

Brendan Stuttard

Valeri Vladi

Jessica Warr

Anna Wuensch

Primary

Primary Peach/Brhelova

Sasha Anderson

Sonja Bakowsky

Declan Baskett

Adam Clarke

Maya Johnson

Alexander Neaves

William Regan

Jack Rix

Abigail Steeves

Primary Jollimore-Behie

Noah Adler

Jack Bethune

Sophie Blucher

Natasha Bowes

Zarah David

Artie Fotheringham

Laila Lynk-Graham

Eden O'Leary

Keshav Parkash

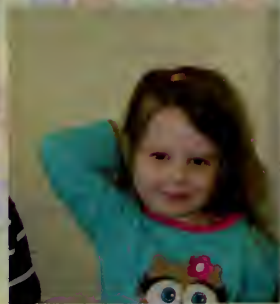

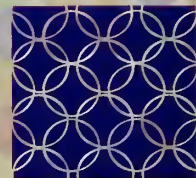

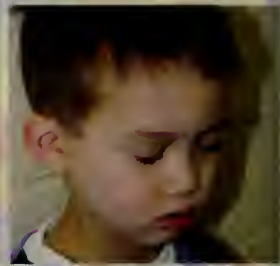

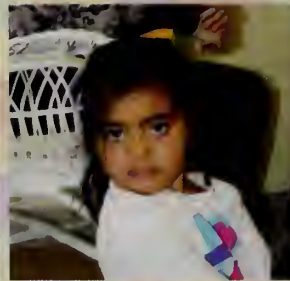

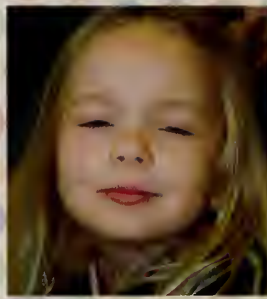

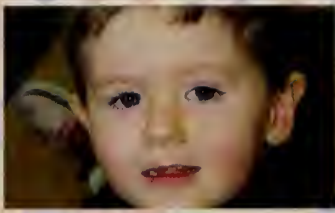

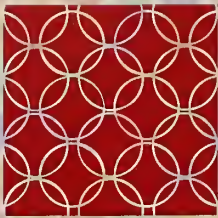

Matthew Peapell

Mateo Rendon

Tuukka Richardson

Jr. Primary

Olan Collins

Liam Furey

Alexandra Graham

Claire Gruchy

Robert Huber

William Kanellakos

Darcy Keefe

Graeme Merrimen

Sophia Nicolela

Hunter Norwood

Thomas Ransom

Bryanna Regier

Ben Robertson

Peter Savvopoulos

Parker Smith

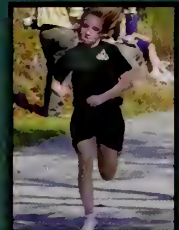

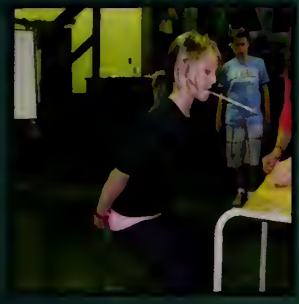

Jenna Tarrel

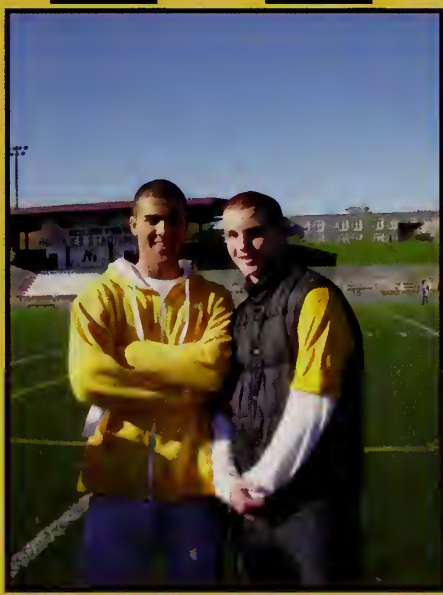

Royals

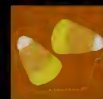

Acadia

Privateers Glooscap

halloween 2010

WINTER CARNIVAL

School Trips

In October, the entire prep school set off for our 2nd annual trip to Noggin's Corner Farm. Four buses were waiting on that crisp fall morning, and off we went to our favorite spot just outside of Wolfville. We were greeted by a legion of farm employees who helped us with our activities. The children explored corn mazes, climbed tire mountains, wandered through rope mazes, pumped water vigorously to send rubber duckies along the trough, stood at the top of stacked hay bales, slid down slides and picked a wide variety of apples. On Wednesday, September 22, P1-4 also went to the Atlantic Film Festival at the Oxford Theatre to enjoy several Canadian shorts, including Flight Training, The Gruffalo, Wasetag, The Scarf, and Lost For Words.

13 S2 and S3 students recently participated in a Habitat for Humanity trip to Guatemala. It began with two days in Antigua, which included hiking up a volcano. The group then went to El Progreso to work for five full days. The group split to work on 2 separate homes. Each started from almost nothing, and finished as nearly complete houses with the help of trained masons. The groups came to befriend the families they were helping as well as members of the community, who came in great numbers to help. The group also visited a coffee plantation and went zip- lining. This trip made a great impact. Not only did the group help build houses, but they learned about the daily life of Guatemalans, and they understood their struggles. This trip was uniquely educational and life-changing. Special thanks to Teresa Woodford, Laura Brock, Shawn Whynot and Tanya Collins

Sixteen enthusiastic students headed to la belle province on the train in January 2011 to participate in the annual S2 Québec Study Trip. It was a whirlwind week of activities, all conducted in French, that included experiences in history, culture, architecture, art, music and drama. Highlights for the students were excursions to L'Erablière le Chemin du Roy, les chutes Montmorency, la Basilique Sainte-Anne de Beauré, a day at school at the Séminaire Saint-François and visits to le Musée du Fort and le Musée de la Civilisation. A big thank you to Mme Smith and Mme Trott-Zisserson for their hard work and fun-loving chaperoning skills.

In September, the entire S3 class packed their bags, stuffed their coolers, and brought all the warm clothes they could fit to go camping at the Kejimikujik National Park. The trip started with a snug bus ride to the park, followed by a competitive game of "Prom Date." Highlights of the trip were trying to stuff some of our six foot classmates into a roped area of two feet, trying to figure out how an albatross sandwich can be fatal, and if we would survive a ship wreck. These games and activities helped us with team building, and allowed us to relax before the demands of the school year are on us. A little rain and some hungry raccoons could not ruin our fun!

To begin the Senior School Experience, S1 students were treated to Camp Mockingee in early September. As we stepped off the bus, we were greeted by a host of friendly counsellors, who, over the course of the next two days, would challenge the group to improve teamwork and leadership skills and, of course, have fun. We canoed, with many of us returning to camp drenched, and we played sports on the open field. When night fell, the teachers and counsellors dressed up in costume for an entertaining show, followed by a roaring campfire. We roasted marshmallows and told stories. We rose early and didn't let the wet weather dampen our spirits. We finished our trip with the counsellors' final challenges. The trip was a great learning experience and a lot of fun! Thanks to Ms. Baillie, Ms. Capalbo, Dr. Butt, and Frau Fitz for chaperoning the trip.

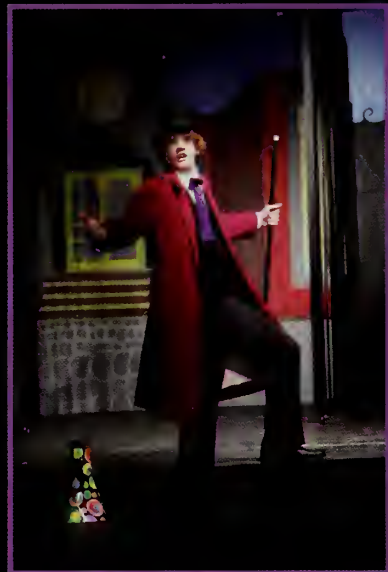

This March Break, 16 adventurous students traveled to Heidelberg, Germany on an exchange. Upon arrival, they were immediately whisked off on escapades to old castles, fortresses, and churches. Highlights included watching a bird attack Thanasi's head, eating different foods, and Dr. Mike's version of Geo Caching (dropping rocks into people's backpacks). Though there were some tough parts, such as visiting a concentration camp and enduring a nine-hour flight over the Atlantic, everyone enjoyed themselves. It certainly isn't just Alice who misses her exchange partner. Thanks to Frau Fitz and Dr. Mike for organizing and participating!

The HGS Senior School Proudly Presents...

Willy Wonka

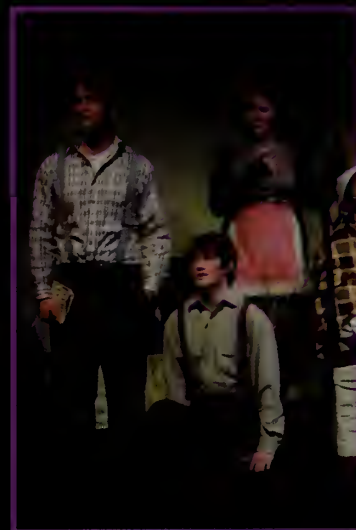

Willy Wonka is a wildly imaginative loner who almost never leaves his world-famous chocolate factory. So, the world is astounded when Wonka announces a once-in-a-lifetime contest. Within the millions of Wonka bars world-wide there are a lucky few that contain Golden Tickets. The five lucky ticket winners are to be given a tour of his top-secret factory and shown his amazing candy-making secrets. One winner will walk away with the grand prize: a lifetime supply of mouth-watering Wonka chocolate!

Willy Wonka
Charlie Bucket
Grandpa Joe Candyman /
Phineas Trout
Mike Teavee
Ms. Teavee
Augustus Gloop
Mrs. Gloop
Violet Beauregarde
Mrs. Beauregarde
Veruca Salt
Mr. Salt
Mr. Bucket
Mrs. Bucket
Grandma Josephine
Grandpa George
Grandma Georgina

Kenzie Delo
Mark Flowerdew
Tom Edgerton

Jose Pauig
Rylan Greer
Alice Calder
Jeric Pauig
Freya Kaiser-Derrick
Gabrielle Casha
Sahara Farzaneh
Arielle Legere
Jeremy Rutledge
Pelham Flowerdew
Beth MacDonald
Emily McBride
Albert Casha
Chloe Forrest

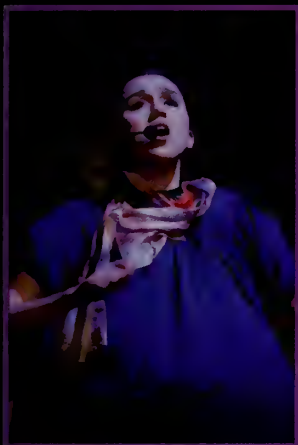

Oompa Loompas:

Sydney Adamson
Laura Brown-Crowell
Paige Conrad
Hannah Price
Jane McLaughlin
Meaghan McTiernan
Ellen Snook

Chorus:

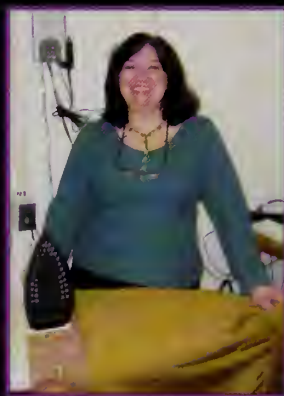

James	Oliver Falvey
Matilda	Nicole Chater
Jojo	Hannah Price
Susie	Leigha Acott
Sophie	Abby Falvey
Annie	Annika Gmann
Betty	Becky Hage
Patty	Patricia
	Johnson-Castle
Lily	Lily Li
Maria	Mareina Sidhom
Mattie	Megan Sutton
Wanda	Siobhan Welch

Musical Director: Mr. Whynot
Director: Ms. Capalbo

Stage Managers:
Maha Naeem and Abby Suissa

Head of Costumes:
Mme. Sweet-Smith

Middle School Drama:

King Lear

The Middle School Drama Club performed its eighth annual Shakespeare production this May. Love, revenge, madness, and a wild, wild storm. They are all to be found in the epic tragedy of King Lear. We started rehearsing early in October; with a cast of more than 35 actors, it was one of our largest groups yet. Special thanks to all the parents who helped with costumes and other aspects of our production.

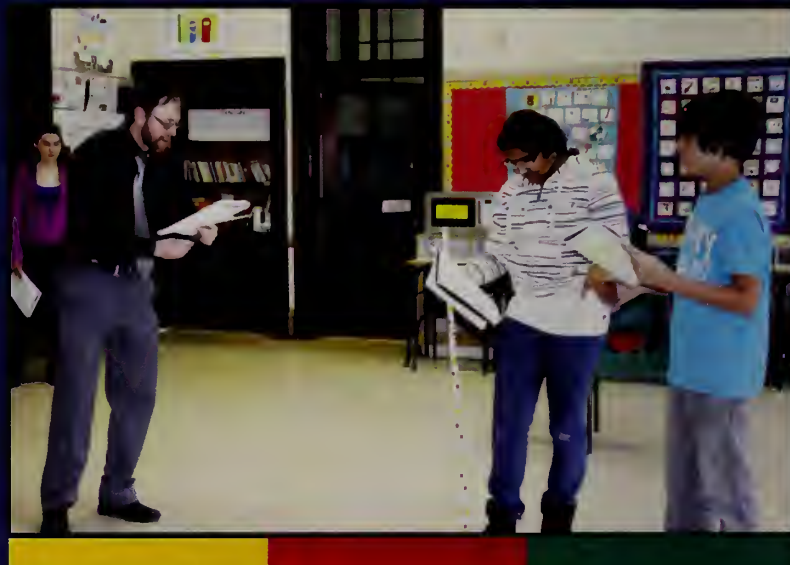

Director: Mr. Follini

Producer: Ms. MacNeil

Costume Coordinator: Margaret Murphy

Sets: Mr. Wiggin and Ms. Furey

Regan	Abby Falvey
Knight/Attendant ...	Amy Huang
King Lear	Andrew Machum
Knight/Attendant	Andrew Moffatt
Gloucester	Anjali Kapilan
Messenger	Annalise Wallace
Goneril	Antonia Lewin-Lafrance
Edgar	Aria Publicover
France	Brian Seo
Burgundy and Captain.....	Cameron Moffatt
Edmund	Christian Ghosn
Servant 1	Claire Neilson
Cornwall	Deivan Steele
Edmund	Deschanel Fynn
Goneril	Franziska Gnann
Kent	Jason Smith
Doctor and Servant 3.....	Julia Liu
Fool	Katherine Morris
Knight/Attendant	Katie Waller
Knight/Attendant	Kaylee Woo
Herald / Knight / Attendant ...	Lily Li
Curan and Servant 2	Louise Lacson
King Lear	Lucy Morgan
Gloucester	Megan Sutton
Edgar	Michael Waller
Knight/Attendant	Monica Wu
Knight	Mr. Laffoley
Cordelia	Natalie Williams

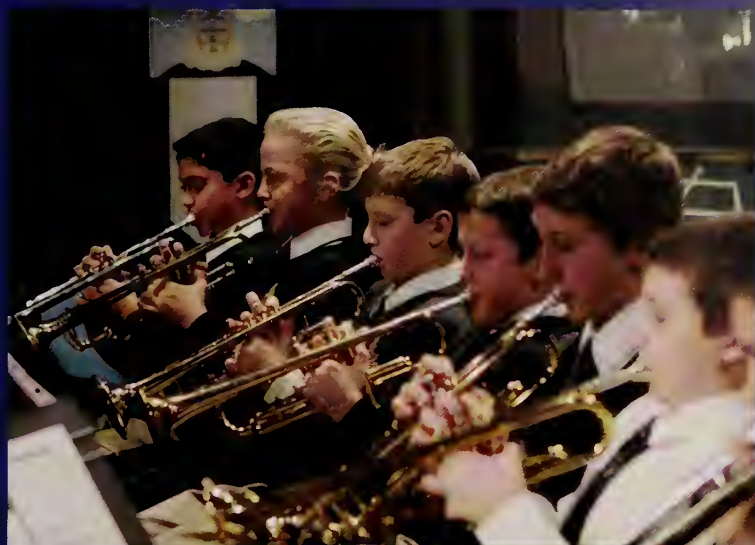

Kent	Nika Gantar
Cordelia	Samantha Wallace
Oswald	Simon Law
Gentleman	Tara Sverko
Fool	Toby Partridge
Albany	Tom Fraser
Officer	Una Sverka
Regan	Ursula Calder
Stage Managers:
Annika Gnann
Paige Conrad
Thomas GT
Alex McBride
Jeremy Fraser
Lily Li

H.G.S. BAND PROGRAM

The HGS Bands have had a year full of musical experiences. The bands performed great at the Winter Concert in December and we had a record amount of people attend the concert. This was the first performance for our M2 bands, and they rose to the occasion. In the New Year, in addition to other HGS ensembles, the musical pit band began working on the music for Willy Wonka. The pit band had seventeen musicians covering grades 7 to 12. The students did a great job playing the music composed for pros. Spring was a busy time with the HGS Concert Band and Jazz Band preparing for a trip to Cape Breton. They performed to three appreciative school audiences and had the opportunity to workshop with some great professional musicians including Scott Macmillan and Shirley Jackson and her Good Rockin' Daddy's. The bands were taught some swing dance moves on the trip and demonstrated their new swingin' styles at the "Blues in the Schools" concert in April. In May, all bands participated in the annual HGS Spring Concert and some even performed at the Gala for the new Performing Arts Studio. It was indeed an action packed year for the HGS Band Department!

The Prep Drama Club Presents

The Magical Land of Oz

On March 1st and 2nd, the Prep Fours performed two amazing shows of The Magical Land of Oz, with help from their special Prep 1 guest stars. This was a group of students with an impressive talent for singing, acting, and dancing. The cast cackled, roared, and "afterbugged" their way to Emerald City.

Directors:

Ms. Ashlea Hawker
Ms. Jane Messenger
Ms. Kim Gallivan

Musical Director

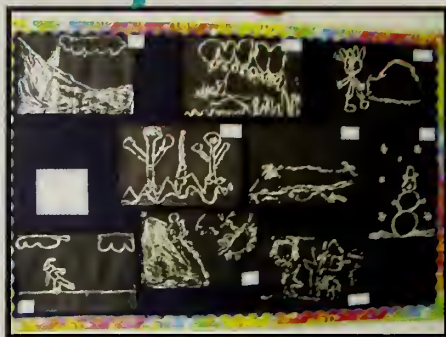

Mr. Shawn Whynot

Set Design

Ms. Renee Forrestall
Ms. Rachel Lynch
Prep 3 Students
Prep 4 Students

Prep, Middle, and Senior School Art

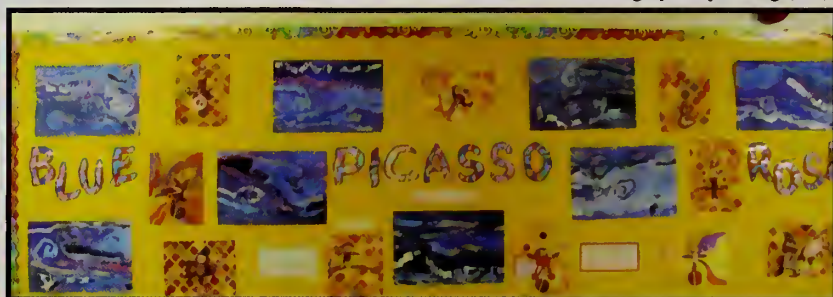

Above: Primary Winter Paintings

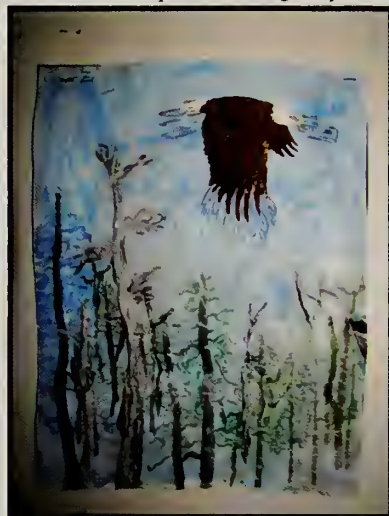

Above: Painting by Amy Huang (M2)

Above: Prep One Snow Scenes

Above: Prep Two Paintings inspired by Picasso

Above: "Eagle" by Gregor Zed (M3)

Above: "Halifax" by Michelle Kim (M5)

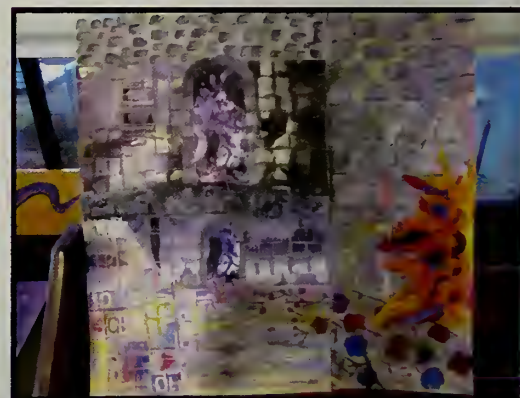

Above: Prep Three Fish Sculptures

Above: "Tea Party" Sculpture by Annika Gnann (S1)

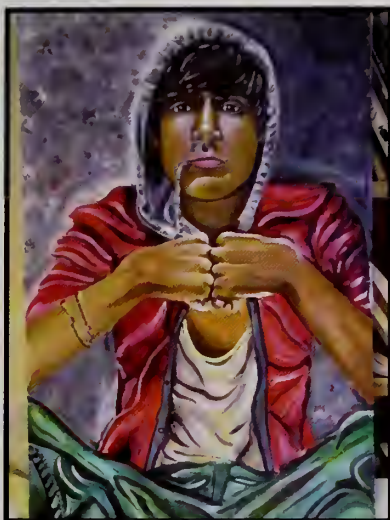

Above: "A Broken Doll," Painting by Abby Suissa (S3)

Above: Romanesque Study by Rozaneh Zaminpeyma (M)

Above: Arielle Legere (S2) and a work in process

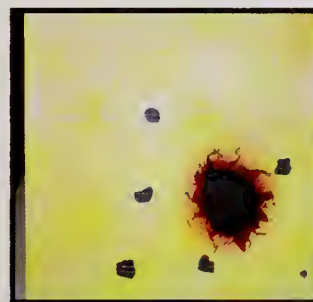

Above: "Freddie," painting by Abby Suissa (S3)

Above and below paintings by Adrian Lang (S3)

S2 and S3 IB Art

Above: Painting by Pardis Borghei (S3)

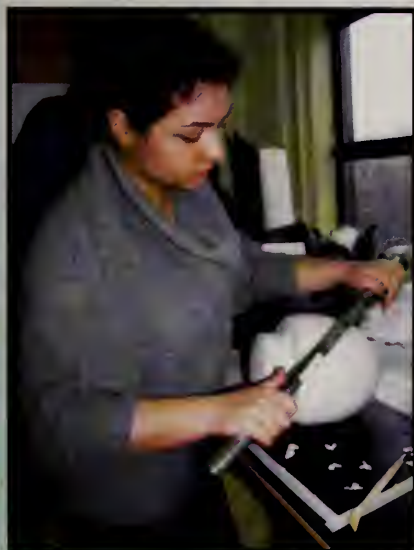

Below: Paintings by Abby Suissa (S3)

Above: Sculpture by Adrian Laing (S3)

Below: Portrait by KeonJoo Lee (S2)

Senior

IMPROV CLUB

MATH CLUB

GLOBAL AFFAIRS

STUDENT AMBASSADORS

GRAMMAR GUARD

YOUTH EVOLUTION CLUB

DEBATING

Clubs

PROM COMMITTEE

HABITAT FOR HUMANITY

GUITAR CLUB

TECH CREW

PREP READERS

ORIGAMI CLUB

Middle

MIDDLE SCHOOL STUDENT COUNCIL

THE GREAT CANADIAN GEOGRAPHY CHALLENGE FINALISTS

ROBOTICS CLUB

CANWEST CANSPELL SCHOOL CHAMPION

Clubs

CALL TO REMEMBRANCE TEAM AND COACHES

RUNNING CLUB

CHESS CLUB

ACTIVITIES CLUB

Prep

SPORTS CLUB

BOOK CLUB

DRAMA CLUB

LEGO CLUB

Clubs

CHESS CLUB

CLAY CLUB

WATERCOLOUR CLUB

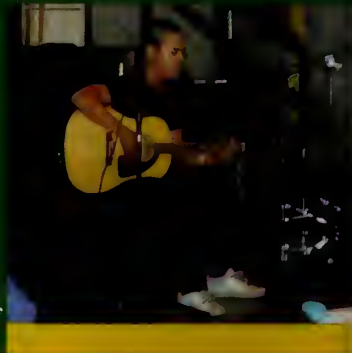

CARD and BOARD GAME CLUB

H.G.S. Community Service

At the Grammar School, every year, we raise money to give back to the community, and to educate our students about local and global issues. This year, we had a number of events and projects to do just this. The first of these was fundraising for the Terry Fox Foundation. The Prep, Middle, and Senior Schools all pitched in, collecting pledges, selling t-shirts, and holding coffee houses, for example. In total, between the three schools, we raised over ten thousand dollars for cancer research. Then, in October, to raise awareness of modern human rights issues, we had Lt.-General Romeo Dallaire, author of Shake Hands with the Devil, come and speak at our school, in a presentation that was open to all. It was an incredible opportunity for everyone who wanted to learn about the Rwandan genocide or current use of child soldiers to do so, and his speech profoundly impacted many of those who attended. In addition, we raised several hundred dollars for a charity run by Mr. Dallaire. Throughout the year, there have been many student run initiatives to fundraise for community events and to raise awareness about a variety of different issues. A wonderful example of this was the senior school participation in the vow of silence, in November. This raised money and awareness for Free the Children, an organisation aiming to end the use of sweatshop labour and child soldiers around the world. We also raised money for The Red Charity, dedicated to fighting AIDS. The Prep School raised an impressive $1870.87 in their annual Unicef fundraising campaign and supported Phoenix House during a Winter Carnival Pajama Day. The Middle School, led by their energetic and dedicated student council, supported Feed Nova Scotia (Adopt-a-Family Program), Habitat for Humanity (school kits), as well as World Vision. Finally, this March, a group of Senior School students went to Guatemala to volunteer with Habitat for Humanity, bringing with them almost one hundred school kits for local children. This trip, besides the donation of the school kits and the construction of local housing, taught the entire group a lot about the living conditions and lives of many in Central America. - Philip Gores, Community Service Steward

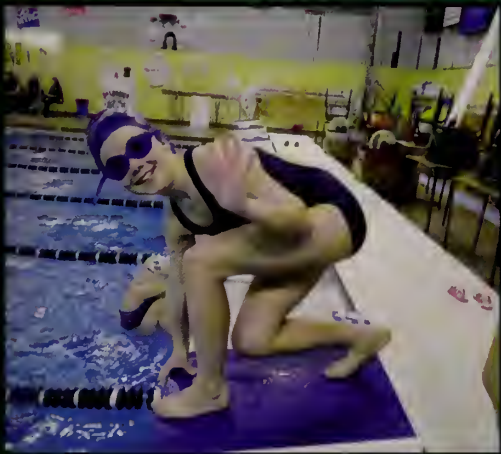

Everyone involved with coffee houses and dances has contributed to the fundraising effort. Our first coffee house raised $383 for the Terry Fox Foundation. Our second coffee house and the first high school dance raised a combined $796 for the Red Charity. Finally, we raised $200 for Free The Children in our third coffee house. In total, these participants raised $1379 for charity.

- Jose Pauig, Treasurer

Go Get -Em GRYPHONS!

BASKETBALL

SENIOR VARSITY GIRLS

- 4 Adelle Goodfellow
- 5 Katie Ross
- 6 Belce Yourk
- 7 Hilary Grantmyre
- 8 Paige Conrad
- 9 Denesha Sule
- 10 Tessa Stammberger
- 12 Jane McLaughlin
- 13 Amy Minnikin
- 14 Kathleen Delicaet

Head Coach: Kathy Spurr
Assistant Coach: Kelly Donald

The Varsity Girls Basketball team had an amazing year of basketball. Towards the beginning of the season, the team took a trip to Florida for the KSA Wonderful World of Sports tournament at Disney. The team came second in their bracket, losing to one of the best teams in Massachusetts. The Varsity Girls won the Capital Region Banner playing in the final game against Citadel High where they won by 1 point. The team went to provincials and came 5th when they won 2 out of the 3 games they played. Thanks so much to our Assistant Coach, Kelly Donald, and our Head Coach, Kathy Spurr.

SENIOR VARSITY BOYS

- 4 Tim Crowell
- 5 Sven Stammberger
- 6 Dominique Hill
- 7 Jose Pauig
- 8 Myles MacNaughton
- 9 Patrick Morris
- 10 Jack MacDonald
- 11 Mitch Jacobs
- 12 Ankur Gupta
- 13 Allan MacDonald
- 14 Ashton Slawter
- 15 Daniel Thompson

Head Coach: Tim McGarrigle
Assistant Coach: Daniel Williams
Assistant Coach: Lucas Wide
Assistant Coach: Mark McGarrigle

The 2010-2011 season for the senior boys will be remembered as one of the most successful in recent memory. The boys won two tournaments during the year: The Central Kings Honda Classic and the Subway Basketball Tournament at Prince Andrew High School.

The Gryphons were a perfect 12-0 in Metro League play and finished with a 23-8 overall record. The team lost to Metro League Champions Citadel in the quarter finals. The team will be remembered for their unselfish style of play and their intensity and passion to compete. Congratulations to all the members of the team for a very successful season!

BASKETBALL

SENIOR JUNIOR VARSITY GIRLS

Meaghan McTiernan
Hannah Price
Freya Kaiser- Derrick
Becky Hage
Emily McBride
Claudia Sekula
Kate Hage
Tosin Fashoranti
Grace Koh
Leigha Acott
Ellen Snook
Amanda Volcko

Coaches:
Brianna Orr and John Bustin

SENIOR D3 BOYS

Matthew Gallupe
Pelham Flowerdew
Thomas Gwynne-Timothy
Everett Grunsky
Albert Casha
Michael Malak
Colin VanDenHof
Daniel Park
Tommy Shim
Alex McBride
Junil (Harry) Seo

Coach: Drew Stratton

JUNIOR GIRLS

Emma Laffoley
Julie Moore
Niamh Fraser
Abbie Jenkins
Katherine Morris
Mairi McKinnon
Ellen Merchant
Antonia Lewin-LaFrance
Megan Sutton
Morgan Hage
Julia Baydar
Maddie MacLean

Coach: Jillian Kiley

BASKETBALL

JUNIOR A BOYS

Andrew Delicaet
Gabe Stephen
BJ Spurr
Mikey Fraser
James Bass
Liam Johnston
Garrett Mallery
AJ Case
Jelani Wright
Gus Doane
Alistar Knox
Dyrel Johnson
Owen Patterson
Dyrel Johnson

Coaches: Darrell MacInnis and Arthur Tolbart

JUNIOR ACIS B GIRLS

Julia Acott
Ursula Calder
Chantelle Fynn
Maya Gantar
Ava Gordon
Franziska Gnann
Inhwa Kim
Renuka Koilpillai
Christine Moore
Elizabeth O'Carroll
Olivia Smith
Quinn Stewart
Claire West

Coaches: Lauren O'Connor and Nicole Roda

JUNIOR B BOYS

Bradley Acott
Will Stordy
Max McBride (missing from M5D page)
Aidan McKinnon
Geoff Zed
Cameron Vihant
Richard Waller
Jordan Bezanson
Cameron Moffatt
Josh Egelhoff
Connor Keefe
Conor Foran
Riley Foran
Will Bluteau

Coaches: Steven Laffoley and Colleen Walsh

SPORTS

Badminton

Roster: Jane McLaughlin, Maddie McLean, Clare West, Marvin Wu, Debi Ogunrinde, Marc Cameron, Jack MacDonald, Allister Chauhan, Julia Liu, Lily Li, Annalise Wallace, Katherine Morris, Kelvin Mansaray, Chris Jiang, AJ Case, Gabe Stephen, Sven Stammberger, Adrian Laing, Kiran Sivakumar, Edison Li, Emma Laffoley, Evan Ross, Una Sverko, Barrett Dachyshyn, Julie Moore, Ethan Xu, Hannah Ellis, Jamie Grant, George Lewin-LaFrance, Andrew Moffatt, Masa Sweiden, Conor Foran, Miranda Crawley, Jack Mahody, Olivia Smith

Coach: Darrell MacInnis

Golf

Roster: Jose Pauig, Allan MacDonald, Thomas Gwynne-Timothy, Matthew Gallupe, Meaghan McTiernan, Amanda Volcko

The girls team won Regionals and placed third at Provincials, and Matthew Gallupe won bronze at provincials.

Coaches: Tim McGarrigle and Darrell MacInnis

Skiing

Roster: Annika Gnann, Sven Klein, Roman Braitsev, Franziska Gnann, Ben Grantmyre, Michael Murphy, Tara Sverko, Claire Neilson, Evan Ross, Kieran Flannery-Fleck, Connor Keefe, Amy Minnikin

Coaches: David Wiggin and Tanja Fitz

Prep Skating

Prep School Skating has been a tradition at HGS for over 30 years, and it continues to be a great way to pass the time on a wintry afternoon. Good skaters get to improve their skills, and some wobbly-kneed beginners learn to glide around the ice surface under their own steam.

A warm thank you goes out to the many parents, teachers—particularly Ms. JB and Ms. Peach—and helpers who take time each week to make sure that all skates are laced, all helmets buckled, and no mitten is left behind.

Madame Henderson
Prep Skating Coordinator

JUNIOR GIRLS

Team Roster: Maya Gantar, Madeleine MacLean, Hailey Johnston, Mairi McKinnon, Antonia Lewin-LaFrance, Elizabeth O'Carroll, Nika Gantar, Emma Laffoley, Georgia Lewin-LaFrance, Claire Neilson, Katherine Morris, Abbie Jenkins, Niamh Fraser, Erica Weigand, Renuka Koilpillai, Claire West, Amy Minnikin
Missing: Jill Macdonald

Coach: Jillian Kiley

U13 BOYS

Team Roster: Max Gross, Graham Rutledge, Deschanel Fynn, Barrett Dachyshyn, Matthew Machum, Ben Grantmyre, Yahia Ali, Cameron Moffatt, Neyaz Saberi, Gregor Zed, Kirk Drabble, Tom Fraser, Angus MacLean, Michael Murphy, Kahlil Benjamin, Kieran Flannery-Fleck, Ahmed Eldk, Evan Ross

Coaches: Steven Laffoley and David Wiggins

JUNIOR BOYS

Team Roster: Trevor Law, Garrett Mallery, Bradley Acott, Geoff Zed, Joe Edgerton, Max McBride, Justin Wallace, A.J. Case, Marc Cameron, Harrison Scholes, Graham Rutledge, Ramin Nejat
Missing: Will Bluteau, Jordan Bezanson, B.J. Spurr

Coach: Jake MacDonald, Joel Sutherland, and Deb Goodfellow

Senior School Soccer

SENIOR GIRLS

Team Roster: Annika Gnaan, Valeriya Sokolenko, Chhunthi Tembo, Nicole Chater, Giselle Hage, Katie Ross, Hilary Grantmyre, Jane McLaughlin, Mareina Sidhom, Becky Hage, Hannah Price, Sydney Adamson, Emma MacNutt, Amanda Volcko, Emily McBride, Chloe Forrest, Shahrzad Daliran, Meaghan McTiernan
Missing: Adelle Goodfellow

Coach: Dennis Huck

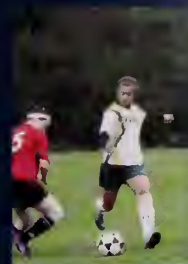

Faculty Advisors: Laura Brock and Gayle Baillie (missing)

SENIOR BOYS

Team Roster: Everett Grunsky, Philip Gores, Tom Edgerton, Ankur Gupta, Michael Malak, Myles MacNaughton, Rory McParland, Ashton Slawter, Alex Lingley, Amit Malik, John Attenborough, Mitchell Jacobs, Roman Burgess, Kiefer Burgess, Adrian Laing, Florent Herbinger
Missing: Liam Elbourne

Coach: Kevin O'Carroll

SPORTS

Junior Hockey

Roster: Bradley Acott, Jordan Bezanson, Will Bluteau, Barrett Dachyshyn, Jack deGooyer, Jeremy Laflamme, Angus MacLean, Max McBride, Michael Murphy, Graham Rutledge, Will Stordy, Bryson Tomcik, Richard Waller, Gregor Zed, Geoffrey Zed, A.J. Case, Boston Ghosn and Julie Moore

Coach: Larry Stordy

Assistant Coaches: Dean Dachyshyn and Mike Butt

Touch Football

Roster: Geoffrey Zed, Jeremy Fraser, Michael Fraser, James Bass, Angus Doane, Liam Johnson, Graham Rutledge, Will Stordy, Richard Waller, Shahradd Daliran, Garrett Mallery, Michael Morris, Cameron Moffatt, Harrison Scholes, Andrew Delicaet

Coaches: Alex Morris, Pelham Flowerdew and AnnMarie MacNeil

Assistant Coaches: Oliver Falvey, Patrick Morris, and Alister Chauhan

Cross Country

The school was well represented during the cross-country running season. The senior boys team won the Metro banner and placed 2nd at the Capital Region Championships. Ten athletes qualified for the NSSAF Provincial Championships held in Dayspring. The senior boys placed 5th as a team, and our top individual performances were Marc Cameron's 16th place finish in the intermediate boys race and Tessa Stammberger's 17th place finish in the senior girls race.

Peter Beazley

Track and Field

Junior Boys: A.J. Case, Alister Knox, Gabriel Stephen, Jack DeGooyer, Jacob Suissa, James Prescott, Jelani Wright, Justin Wallace, Kieran Flannery-Fleck, Krish Thapar

Junior Girls: Annalise Wallace, Antonia Lewin-LaFrance, Erica Weigand, Alina Chen, Sara Jovanovic, Miranda Crawley, Claire Neilson

Intermediate Boys: Harrison Scholes, Alistair Chauhan, Bradley Acott, Bryson Tomcik, Jordan Bezanson, Marc Cameron, Mark Egelhoff, Marvin Wu, Ravee Chen, Rory McParland, Trevor Law, Will Stordy

Intermediate and Senior Girls: Annika Gnann, Gillian Fong-McMaster, Jessica Basta, Lauren Ross, Maddie MacLean, Samantha Wallace, Sophia Fassbender, Tosin Fashoranti, Ursula Calder, Chloe Forrest, Jane McLaughlin

Senior Boys: Alex Lingley, Alex McBride, Colin VandenHof, Harry Seo, John Muir, Jonathan Perrie, Kiran Sivakumar, Mark Flowerdew, Mathieu-Charles Blouin, Mitchell Jacobs, Philip Gores, Thomas Gwynne-Timothy

Coaches: Peter Beazley and Jill Kiley

Halifax Grammar School

HALIFAX GRAMMAR SCHOOL
2010-2011

2010-2011

